Tiny Willie Burns Falls Into Harbor To-day and Drowns

William James Burns, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Burns, of 348 Michigan Street, met a tragic death by drowning to-day, his body being recovered from the waters of the Inner Harbor, near Raymond's Wharf, Belleville Street.

The little tot was reported missing at 12 o'clock this morning, and a search by his parents and the police was instituted. The remains were found by J. Dakers of the Customs Department near the B.A. Paint Company. Mr. Dakers reported the discovery at once to the police.

The body was taken to the B.C. Funeral Parlors, and Coroner E. C. Hart notified.

It is believed that the little tot lost his balance on one of the docks and fell into the water. The little fellow left home with another boy age four years.

CHICAGO GALA DAY

Police Prepare For Election Day, Murder, Slugging Kidnapping and Ballot Stealing

Detectives Frustrate Gunmen Attempting to Kidnap Aldermen

Chicago, April 8.—Policemen, with extra patrols outside their blue coats, patrolled the city to-day under orders for special vigilance. Detectives in squad cars equipped with riot guns, in the city streets, were on the lookout for trouble. Thousands of civilians were out to see the election day.

Down state, where Congresswoman Ruth Hanna McCormick and U.S. Senator Charles S. McNary have pulled at opposite ends of the world court issue in their to-day-for the Republican Senatorial nomination, special precautions against violence and fraud were regarded as unnecessary; but here factionalism peppered the campaign and were murder, kidnapping, slugging, ballot stealing and fraud are voting day precedents, the law prepared for trouble.

Democrats, too, were nominating a candidate for the United States Senate. The nomination of former Senator James Hamilton Lewis, however, was a mere formality for them. They were interested more in seeing who their

Coal and Employment Conferences Proposed

Subsidy for Alberta Product Shipped East Asked in Federal House; Ottawa Blamed for B.C.'s Douk-hobour Troubles.

Ottawa, Ont., April 8.—A subsidy for Alberta coal shipped east of Manitoba, as an aid to employment in the Alberta coal fields, was urged in the House of Commons yesterday by C. G. Coote (U.F.A.).

It was absolutely necessary to grant the coal industry a subsidy for at least three years in order to allow Canadian bituminous coal to establish itself in Winnipeg, he said.

Mr. Coote suggested that a royal commission be organized in order to inquire into the coal industry. Such a proposal had the support of the all-Canadian congress of Labor, and the Mine Workers' Union of Canada. There was real distress among the coal miners. In one part of Alberta a man was so poverty stricken they could not pay for the milk delivered for their children. Mr. Coote felt that the responsibility fell primarily on the Dominion government, rather than the provincial.

BLAMES IMMIGRATION

The conditions were brought about largely by the immigration policy of the government, for a large number of these miners came to Canada as agricultural workers.

L. J. Ladner, Conservative, Vancouver (South).—Declared that unemployment existed in Canada to an alarming extent. Immediate action should be taken by the government to remedy the situation.

The statement of the Prime Minister, Mr. Laidner said, that he (Premier King) would not give a Conservative piece in the way of unemployment relief was a piece of political depravity. Such an extreme degree of partisanship was not expected from the government leader, Mr. Laidner stated.

GOV.-GENERAL LAYS WREATH ON WAR MEMORIAL

Performs Ceremony For Canadian Legion: Greets Officials

The Governor-General of Canada at 12.40 o'clock to-day drove to Parliament Square where he laid a wreath on the War Memorial, the function being staged by the Canadian Legion.

As he stepped from the Government House car, Lord Willingdon was greeted by officials of the Legion, including H. P. Thorpe, secretary of the district council; J. J. Blair, president of the district council; W. O. Stone, some representative and member of the provincial executive council; Gen. Sir Percy Lake of the Dominion executive, and J. J. Food, E. Snowden, P. Banks, Tyrwhitt Drake, A. Culver, Thos. Gillan, F. D. Mulholland and B. H. Cornett.

As His Excellency laid the wreath and stood at attention, a bugler sent from Work Point Barracks by Brigadier Sutherland Brown sounded the "Last Post."

During the short ceremony His Excellency greeted Mrs. Bloomfield, representing the ladies' auxiliary of the provincial executive.

ENJOYS GARDENS

The Governor-General spent the morning quietly at Government House, looking over the gardens and enjoying the bright sunshine.

Lady Willingdon visited the exhibit of paintings of A. M. D. Fairbairn at Sommer's Art Store and accepted the gift of a painting from Mr. Fairbairn. This was a panel design with seagulls against a blue background.

At 1 o'clock Lord and Lady Willingdon went to the home of Premier and Mrs. Tolmie for luncheon. They were accompanied by Capt. C. Y. B. Blundell-Hollingshead-Blundell and Mr. Fairbairn.

After the luncheon, Lady Willingdon turned to lunch to open the L.O.E. loan collection at McEwen's room. Accompanied by Lord Willingdon, she then went to North Saanich where they spent some time on J. S. H. Matson's farm and looked at his high bred stock. They then went to Lord Colville's estate.

To-night they are holding a small dinner at Government House and will then go to the Royal Victoria Theatre to see "The Whole Town's Talking," as presented by the Gordon McLeod Players at a special performance in aid of the Solarium funds.

After the theatre, they will leave by the regular midnight boat for Vancouver on the start of their journey east.

SON HANGS FOR KILLING MOTHER

English Youth Sought Insurance Money to Join Lover

Maldstone, Eng., April 8.—Within less than three weeks after his conviction of the murder of his mother, Sidney Fox was hanged in jail here this morning. The crowd which gathered outside dispersed quietly when a notice was posted that the erratic youth had paid the penalty for his crime. There were no bells tolled, or flag hoisted, and prison routine went on as usual.

Fox strangled his mother, a charming grey-haired woman of sixty-three, as she lay in bed at their hotel at Margate last autumn, and then set the room afire. The son previously had insured her life for considerable sums. Evidence showed that he desired the money to go to Australia and join a beautiful wealthy woman with whom he had a love affair.

Fox was a well bred and debonaire youth, and his trial provided a great sensation for all England, some of the country's greatest pathologists testifying.

The youth denied the crime, and sentence March 21, staggered in the prisoners' dock and sobbed: "I didn't kill my mother."

Yesterday in London, Mr. Justice Hill had granted a divorce decree to Captain George Morse, seaman, on the ground that his wife had committed adultery with Fox two years ago. Mrs. Morse was born in Australia. Fox, it is understood, did not know of the divorce case.

KING PROMISES TO INVESTIGATE COAL REPORT

Question of Russian Coal in Canada Raised in Commons To-day

Ottawa, Ont., April 8.—The amendment of A. A. Heaps, Labor, Winnipeg North, calling for immediate action by the Government to relieve unemployment, was defeated in the House of Commons this afternoon by 18 votes. The House divided—for 81, against 99. The amendment was moved to a Government motion that the House go into committee of supply.

The main motion was then carried, and the House went into committee of supply.

Ottawa, Ont., April 8.—Presentation of a series of reports of various committees occupied the first few minutes following the opening of the House of Commons this afternoon.

The annual Canadian National Railway report was also tabled.

On motion of Premier W. L. Mackenzie King, the report of the debate committee, recommending increased salaries for the Hansard staff, was referred back to the committee for further consideration.

R. K. Smith (Conservative, Cumberland), took up the question of the importation of Russian coal into Canada. Mr. Smith referred to the statement of Sir Newton Moore, in the British House of Commons, that coal from Russia was being imported into this country. This coal, Mr. Smith declared, was being produced at "sweet wages" in Russia. "What steps are being taken by the Government in this matter?" Mr. Stewart asked.

The Prime Minister replied that "steps are being taken to ascertain the facts."

J. S. Woodsword (Labor, Winnipeg North Centre) inquired if any move was under contemplation to place a trade commissioner in Russia "to ascertain the facts."

Mr. King answered that the "matter" was under consideration. A. A. Heaps (Labor, Winnipeg North) wanted to know if the Government intended to bring down legislation prior to the Easter recess based on the report of the royal commission which conducted the radio inquiry.

Hon. P. J. A. Gardin, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, said the report was referred to a special committee. There was no legislation for the present, he remarked.

UNEMPLOYMENT

The House then turned to the Heaps amendment which demands immediate action from the government in connection with unemployment. Dr. Peter McGibbon (Cons., Muskoka) charged that the present unemployment situation in Canada was attributable to the Liberal Government more than to any other agency. The fiscal policies of the present administration had led to a condition of affairs that was worse than for the last ten years. In his one hand the Minister of Finance had a protectionist budget and in the other a free trade budget, each ready for production as a political expedient.

The protectionist sympathies of the Minister of National Revenue (Hon. W. D. Euler) and the free trade principles of the Minister of Railways (Hon. T. A. Crerar) furnished a striking contrast, said the speaker. Dr. McGibbon congratulated Mr. Crerar on his past performance in the House of Commons. In the past the minister had destroyed two parties, and now he had joined in the funeral march of a third.

The Minister of the Interior carried with him an old bundle of straw known as free trade, said Dr. McGibbon. Was it any wonder that, with such conflicting elements comprising the cabinet, the situation in the country was confused, he asked? The country lacked stability in policy and government.

Liberals Will Speak To-night At Big Rally

T. D. Pattullo, Leader of the Opposition, and George Pearson, M.P.P., Nanaimo, will be the principal speakers at a public meeting to be held in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium to-night, starting at 8 o'clock. The events of the recent session of the Legislature will be reviewed by both Liberal members and Mr. Pattullo will discuss the financial aspect of the Government's policies from all angles. The increase in taxation will be referred to.

Submarine Issue Problem Before Naval Delegates

Complete Agreement Between Japan, Britain and United States Except a Japanese Point of Transferring 20,000 Tons From Destroyer to Submarine Category; Five-power Agreement Still Hoped For.

London, April 8.—Complete agreement was reached to-day by United States Secretary of State Stimson, Premier MacDonald and Reijiro Wakatsuki on all points regarding a three-power pact except the important Japanese point regarding the transfer of 20,000 tons from the destroyer to the submarine category.

This latter problem will be discussed at another meeting of the big three before to-morrow.

Three statements agreed on for replacement programme for fleet cruisers and destroyers.

While these conversations were going on, Foreign Minister Briand of France, arrived in England and will meet Premier MacDonald at the House of Commons later in the day.

FIVE-POWER TREATY

Premier Ramsay MacDonald, answering a question in the House of Commons to-day, declined to give assurance that he would enter into the naval conference to secure a five-power agreement.

STATEMENT IN COMMONS

A statement by Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, in the course of debate in the House of Commons last night, is attracting considerable attention, especially as it bears directly on the subject of commitment on one of the knotty problems of the five-power naval conference now in progress.

CANADA DOUBLES AIRCRAFT

Over Hundred and Twenty Thousand Passengers Flew During 1929

Over 3,000,000 Pounds of Freight and 430,000 Pounds of Mail Carried Ottawa, Ont., April 8.—Activity in civil aviation in Canada doubled during 1929, according to figures made public at the National Defence Department.

The number of hours flown by aircraft rose from 12,070 in 1927 to 43,071 in 1928 and 79,783 in 1929. The total aircraft mileage for these three years were 839,010 in 1927, 2,728,414 in 1928 and 6,384,079 in 1929. The number of passengers carried increased from 19,832 in 1927 to 78,860 in 1928 and 124,751 in 1929. Of these 65,224 were paying passengers.

FREIGHT AND MAIL

The figures for freight carried by air are 1,098,348 pounds in 1927, 2,204,682 pounds in 1928 and 3,905,908 pounds in 1929. The figures for mail are 4,684 pounds in 1927, 316,631 pounds in 1928 and 430,646 pounds in 1929.

The number of aircraft licenses rose from sixty-seven in 1927 to 264 in 1928 and 445 in 1929. The number of licensed commercial pilots increased from seventy-two in 1927 to 528 in 1928 and 445 in 1929. The licensed air engineers increased from 103 in 1927 to 200 in 1928 and 308 in 1929.

MAIL ROUTES

The length of the air mail routes now operated under contract with the Post Office Department is 5,139 miles of 2,354 trips scheduled during the year 1929. 2,133 were successfully completed. Approximately a half-million miles were flown in the execution of these contracts, and 430,646 pounds of mail were carried under them.

AEROPLANE CLUBS

The light aeroplane club operations show a similar great growth during 1929. There are now twenty-three clubs authorized to receive assistance from the Department of National Defence under the club scheme. The number of members is now 5,233, of whom 904 the clubs flying instruction.

The number of aircraft operations under the club scheme, the number of flights is sixty-five. They have made 49,708 flights and have flown 16,612 hours and 50 minutes, of which 7,141 hours and 22 minutes were on dual instruction and 6,483 hours and 12 minutes were on solo practice. One hundred and eighty-three private pilots have been licensed to members and eighty-five have been licensed as commercial pilots.

SMALL CROP CUTS PROFITS OF C.N.R. LINE

Report Tabled at Ottawa To-day Show Revenues Dropped Six Per Cent

Ottawa, Ont., April 8.—The decrease in the gross revenue of the Canadian National Railways was almost entirely due to the reduced crop in the prairie provinces and to marketing conditions, states Sir Henry Thornton, chairman and president of the C.N.R., in his report covering the operations of the system of 1929.

The report is to be tabled in the House of Commons this afternoon by Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Railways and Canals. Operating revenues declined 6 per cent, or $16,752,946. The net earnings were $45,062,080.

"During the first seven months gross revenue maintained a high level," says Sir Henry, "but adverse crop prospects were reflected in the receipt for August and September. In the last three months of the year the most serious declines in revenue were sustained. The decrease in revenue from grain shipments alone amounted to $15,500,311 and the non-operation of harvester excursions decreased passenger revenue by $1,230,000."

TEMPORARY CHECK

"Another disturbing feature was the depreciation of values on the stock market and the resulting lethargy in business during the latter part of the year. The consensus of opinion is that such effect should be temporary and that the future march of development in Canada should continue."

"The failure of the crop to move in a normal way developed with considerable suddenness and rendered difficult any compensating reduction of expenses. Moreover, the railway had already been put to the expense of distributing several thousand empty cars in anticipation of a normal crop movement. The money so spent could, of course, be recovered, having regard also for what was thought to be the temporary character of reduced traffic. It was considered unwise and, indeed, open."

INVALID PUSHES Wheel Chair on Death Journey

Long Beach, Cal., April 8.—William O'Brien, traveled eighteen miles in his wheel chair to find death.

O'Brien, born in Canada fifty years ago, had been a resident of the Los Angeles county farm at Hondo for fifteen years. He could not walk, but was able to push himself about in his chair.

Yesterday he was missed at the farm, but too late to stop his strange pilgrimage. His journey was traced to an ocean pier at Long Beach.

A fisherman saw the final stage of the trip on the pier. When O'Brien did not reappear, he investigated and found the chair empty.

BUSINESS IN BOMBAY STOPS ON STRIKE CALL

Independence Leader Will Tour Indian Villages Urging Mass Disobedience of Salt Laws; Eight Thousand Gathering at Dandi to See Expected Arrest Disperse When No Action Is Taken.

Bombay, India, April 8.—Most of the Hindu and Parsi shops in Bombay City suspended business to-day in response to the hartal or strike call of the Bombay congress committee of the India National Congress. The hartal is in protest of arrest of K. F. Nakimann and Jannanah Bajaj for their activities in behalf of Mahatma Gandhi's salt law violators.

SCHOOLBOYS JOIN STRIKE

Nakimann, who is a most prominent Swarajist, or Indian Nationalist, was sentenced to one month's simple imprisonment for instigating the strike. Most of the local shops closed but a number of Moslem shops remained open. Two thousand schoolboys threw down their books and joined the hartal.

A message from Jalapur to-day said that Gandhi Thursday would commence a tour of the villages and urge the inhabitants to show disobedience of the salt laws, which is the first step in Gandhi's campaign of civil disobedience, by which the Nationalist hope to obtain independence. Gandhi is due to-morrow at Chinarur, where his son, Ram Das Gandhi, was arrested Sunday.

NO POLICE ON SCENE

There was general expectation this morning that Gandhi would be arrested finally when he went to Dandi to produce salt there, and a crowd of 8,000 persons anticipated possible exciting scenes. There, however, were no police at the scene, and when no attempt was made to interfere with the independence leader the throng dispersed.

Gangahar Rao Deshpande, prominent Indian National leader of Belgaum, near Bombay, was arrested to-day with three others for violating the salt laws. The town of Belgaum is two-day's ride from Bombay.

TWO-YEAR SENTENCE

During the day Marwar Jannanah Bajaj, wealthy Bombay follower of Gandhi, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment for inciting the suburban residents of Bombay to break the salt laws. This consisted of fried granules of chick-peas such as used in the East Indies to feed cattle, fried rice and water mixed with tamarind, sometimes used to preserve fish and as a physic, and raw onions and curds or milk.

Gandhi asked them to continue the diet until Sunday as an experiment.

Surat, India, April 8.—Ramanand Gandhi, son of Mahatma Gandhi, who was arrested at Bhimad for breaking the salt laws, was sentenced to six months' rigorous imprisonment to-day. Four companions were given similar sentences.

SEVEN INJURED

New Delhi, India, April 8.—Seven persons were injured at Shadara, near here to-day, in a clash between police and volunteers who are supporting Mahatma's Gandhi's campaign by collecting salt illegally.

Four others who were rendered unconscious were rescued by their companions and taken in a procession to Gandhan Square.

SILENT ZONE AT RACE

The first official acknowledgment that a silent zone exists at Race Rocks is seen in a report of H. D. Parizeau, chief Dominion hydrographer on this coast.

Shipping interests, uniting in asking additional aids at this point, were successful some time ago in having a direction-finding wireless beacon established there, but the Marine Department never admitted the existence of a silent area until after Mr. Parizeau had completed his investigations.

He further reported that this silent zone may be increased by the position of the diaphone. It is screened on one side by the lighthouse, on the other by the compressor house. Close by also, there is a rock standing several feet above the diaphone.

It is now proposed to raise the diaphone fifteen feet to clear the ridge of the shore and the summit of the rock. Extensive experiments will then be made this summer to ascertain what difference these alterations will have on the warnings from the sound signal.

APPROVE PLAN TO BEAUTIFY CAPITAL CITY

Appointment of Improvement Commission Favored By Chamber Group

Formation of a Capital Improvement Commission composed of representatives of the City Council and the provincial government with beautification and improvement of the city of Victoria as its objective was approved by a special committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Whole-hearted support of the Chamber of Commerce for the proposal is suggested by the committee, which also recommends a grant for such a commission from the government.

The resolution dealing with the project reads as follows:
"Resolved that this committee supports the proposal to create a Capital Improvement Commission similar to the Ottawa Improvement Commission, to draw up and carry out as funds avail, a comprehensive scheme for the beautification and improvement of the capital city of British Columbia, such commission to be composed of nominees of the provincial government and City Council, and that the provincial government be asked to make an annual grant to the commission, suited to the importance of the work to be performed. This committee further recommends to the directors that the Chamber of Commerce lends assistance and support to the city representatives in the Legislature, the City Council and other public or semi-public bodies who are anxious to see the fruition of this important movement."

Most Patient Taxi-driver Is Found In India

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times
London, April 8.—The most patient taxi-driver in the world has just been discovered, not, to be sure, in Europe, or even in America, where the traditional temperament of the trade is choleric rather than phlegmatic, but in Bombay. Taxi-man No. 189, Said Abdul Huda, is a man of wonderful tranquillity. An American engaged him one day at the harbor for a tour of the city's sights, and found when the trip was over that he had no money with him. Promising to send the fare by the steward, he hastened on board his ship, a large liner, which almost as soon as he had crossed the gangway put off for an Australian port.

AN APPROPRIATE REWARD
Said Abdul, deprived of his legal fare and the hoped-for tip, did not despair. Weeks passed, and the car still stood on the quay, the taxi-meter ticking merrily. His mates pitied his credulity, but he did not stir. The police interested themselves in him, and the newspapers saw a good "story." Six months almost had passed, and still the taxi-man waited. Then his patience was rewarded. The passenger, into whose hands a copy of a Bombay newspaper had fallen, remembered his debt and discharged it with praise-worthy generosity through the American consul. The story has a touching moral, but, considering its dependence on coincidence, it is not to be recommended as a pattern of conduct.

EXTENSION OF CITY PHONE TO SAANICH ASKED

Reeve Crouch Tells Saanich Board of Trade of Negotiations

Major James Hamilton, vice-president and general manager of the British Columbia Telephone Company, returned to Vancouver yesterday evening after making a week-end inspection of the installation of the dial telephone apparatus at the Victoria exchange.

Major Hamilton was interviewed by Reeve Crouch regarding the practicability of including the Alhambra and Colquhoun exchanges in the city system. Charles of revenue and expenses involved had been specially prepared for the conference. These showed that, despite the higher basic monthly charge involved, the company would lose a substantial revenue if the change were adopted.

CONCESSION EXPECTED

Reeve Crouch last night informed the Saanich Board of Trade that he had been informed that directors of the telephone company strongly favored extension of the Victoria city system to incorporate the two Saanich exchanges, and he was confident that a favorable decision would result from further conferences to be held by the company.

The board appointed J. E. Sladen, P. F. Beckett and Capt. N. Gray as a committee to wait on the municipal council and present the following resolution:

"Whereas the Saanich municipal council has reviewed the situation with regard to telephone service in Saanich municipality, and aims to get the Victoria telephone service extended to meet the wishes of a large number of Saanich ratepayers who desire the ex-

extension of the Victoria service; and, whereas, the Saanich municipal council considers that the extension of the Victoria service on an equitable basis would, in every respect be in the best interests of the municipality;

"Be it therefore resolved that this Board of Trade heartily endorses the action of the Saanich council, and asks that body to approach the British Columbia Telephone Company, with a view to arriving at an amicable solution, whereby Victoria service may be extended to the municipality."

CONTINUANCE OF PENSION SOUGHT

Rights of Widows For Consideration Aired at Ottawa

Special to The Times

Ottawa, April 8.—The situation of the widows of ex-soldiers pensioners was considered by the special parliamentary committee on returned soldiers' problems yesterday afternoon, and a number of suggestions aimed at alleviating distress among those women were advanced by Lieut.-Col. L. A. Lafleche, D.S.O., and Richard Myers of Toronto; the latter represented the Amputations Associations.

In advocating that a soldier's pension be continued by his widow on the death of the pensioner, Col. Lafleche argued that, since the law had for twelve years banned such a procedure and since in that time many soldiers had married, it was proper to assume that these women were not married in expectation of pensions.

Col. Lafleche recommended that section 32, subsection (1) of the Pension Act be repealed, and the following substituted:

"That no pension shall be paid to the widow of a pensioner unless she was living with him or was maintained by him or was, in the opinion of the commission, entitled to be maintained by him at the time of his death, and for a reasonable time previously thereto."

"No pension shall be paid to the widow of a member of the forces unless she was married to him before the appearance of the injury or disease which resulted in his death."

"(a) Unless she was married to him before the date of the coming into force of this act.
"(b) Unless when marriage is contracted after the date of the coming into force of the act, he, a member of the forces, is able to obtain from the commission a certificate to the effect that he has a reasonable expectation of life."

Col. Lafleche said that the amendment to the Pension Act of 1928 was intended to create certain exceptions to the principle that no pension should be granted to the widow of a member of the forces where marriage was contracted after the appearance of the fatal injury or disease, but the amendment had failed to solve the problem in respect of cases where death resulted from a pensionable disease. A great deal of emphasis had been called "death-bed marriage," but the colonel felt that those fears were groundless and unjust to the women of Canada. Hitherto there had been no incentive for a woman, under the law, to marry a disabled pensioner, for such cases had not been provided for. The present suggestion had the support of the National Council of Women and other women's organizations.

Col. John Thompson, chairman of the Pensions Board, said that 800 widows would be affected by this legislation at an additional cost of $600,000 per annum.

Mr. Myers advocated that widows of all pensioners, who have died from a cause other than the disability which made them pensionable, be granted a pension in accordance with those granted the widows of pensioners who come within the first five classes of the schedule. These classes are amputation cases from 80 per cent disabled to 100 per cent. Mr. Myers wanted the classes extended to from five to eleven.

Another submission, made by Mr. Myers was that "in respect of a member of the forces entitled to a pension in any of classes one to eleven inclusive, such pensioner shall upon reaching the age of fifty-five years be advanced one class in the said schedule, and shall be further advanced one class each succeeding year until a class one pension has been reached."

Grant Sought For Tut Tomb Excavations

London, April 8.—Dispatches from Cairo to The Daily Mail today say that the Egyptian Minister of Finance asked the chamber of deputies yesterday to authorize a grant of $170,000 to the heirs of the late Lord Carnarvon as compensation for his expenditures in excavating the tomb of Tutankhamen late in 1922.

The grant would also be a recompense for the benefits Egypt has derived from the excavation. The proposal was referred to the finance committee.

FACES CHARGE OF ATTEMPTED MURDER

Winnipeg, April 8.—Mike Herchuk, charged with the attempted murder of William F. Whitcomb, youthful drug clerk, in a hold-up here last week, was remanded until April 14 when he appeared in police court yesterday. No plea was made by the accused.

Request by counsel that he be allowed to withdraw a plea of guilty made last Friday in connection with the robbery of a Winnipeg filling station was denied Herchuk by Magistrate R. D. Graham.

BOOTLEGGERS OF MICHIGAN FREE

Legal Hitch Prevents Prosecution of Several Hundred Violators

Lansing, Mich., April 8.—Several hundred alleged violators of the law against selling liquor will escape prosecution through a ruling by the Michigan Supreme Court handed down yesterday.

The court ruled persons who violated the old Michigan prohibition law and who were not prosecuted before last August 28, cannot be tried. The Cuthbertson law, providing mandatory prison sentences of one to four years for bootlegging, became effective on that date, but the 1929 state legislature in passing the Cuthbertson Act failed to provide a saving clause to account for violations under the old law.

It is estimated that in Detroit and Wayne County 200 such cases against alleged bootleggers will have to be dismissed and there are many more throughout the state.

BIG EXECUTIVE'S SERVICES SOUGHT AS DEPUTY MINISTER

Ottawa, Ont., April 8.—In connection with the appointment of a successor to J. G. Saunders, Deputy Minister of Finance, who died a few days ago, The Citizen yesterday said in its news columns:

"When the time comes for an appointment in place of Mr. Saunders, it is believed the minister will go outside in search of a big executive. It is the most prominent name mentioned is that of Henry T. Ross, K.C., secretary and general manager of the Canadian Bankers' Association, who used to be assistant Deputy Minister of Finance, and is thoroughly familiar with and competent for the position. But it is believed that, as usually happens, such executives as Mr. Ross are paid more in their private occupations than the public service can offer.

EDGAR WALLACE AS POLITICIAN

Versatile Author Will Be Liberal Candidate in Buckinghamshire

London, April 8.—A man who has known the bitter struggle against poverty and the off-recurring rent bill, who has been a private soldier, a reporter, a war correspondent and finally a writer of master "thrillers," has now decided to turn his hand to the political plough.

That man is Edgar Wallace, the noted novelist. It has been announced that Mr. Wallace will run in the Liberal interest in a Buckinghamshire constituency at the next election. When the election does come, his fight will be watched with particular keen interest in this and other Anglo-Saxon countries, for the author of "The Ring," "The Terror," "The Squeaker" and many other plays and stories, can be expected to provide a colorful contest and plenty of "copy."

His books and plays have brought him wealth and fame.

FORMER JUDGE OF CANADIAN COURT DEAD

Hon. Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., Exercised Great Influence in Dominion

Was Staunch Advocate of Closest Imperial Connection

Canadian Press
Toronto, Ont., April 8.—Hon. Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., native of Woodstock, Ont., and former judge of the Supreme Court of Canada, died yesterday after a long illness. He was for many years a leading member of the Ontario judiciary. He was born on May 13, 1858.

Wallace Nesbitt was one of those men who, without a wing, political honors holding elective office, exercised a great influence on the trend of opinion and affairs in Canada. His high standing in professional and business circles, his broad scholarship, his ability as a speaker, his keen interest in national and imperial matters and his readiness to devote himself to public causes gave him an influence appreciated by few.

At the early age of forty-five years he was made a judge of the Supreme Court of Canada. The fact that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, then Prime Minister, went outside his own party to fill the vacancy on the bench indicated the high regard he held for Mr. Nesbitt's legal ability. But Mr. Nesbitt remained a judge only two years, retiring to resume private practice in 1905.

During the period preceding the general election of 1911 he strongly opposed the scheme for reciprocity of trade between Canada and the United States. He predicted its adoption would eventually lead not only to economic but to political union. At this time he advanced a suggestion, adopted several years later to establish a tariff board to advise the government on fiscal matters.

When the appointment of a Canadian minister to Washington was discussed he opposed the idea, but he was host to the first diplomat to a foreign power from one of the British Dominions, Hon. Timothy A. Smiley, first Irish Free State minister to the United States, on the latter's visit to Toronto.

Mr. Nesbitt took a keen interest in the welfare of the legal profession, particularly in legal education. He was a member of the Law Society of Upper Canada and later treasurer. He was a frequent visitor to the Osgoode Hall Law School, often addressing the students and sitting in at lectures to observe methods of teaching. During his life he made a gift of $10,000 to the Law Society, the income of which was to be used for the improvement of legal education in Ontario.

He also took a prominent part in the activities of the Canadian Bar Association. In 1928 he was elected president. Mr. Nesbitt was married twice, first to Mrs. Louise Plumb in 1889. She died in 1894 and in 1898 he married Miss Amy Beatty. He had one son.

A Knight of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, Mr. Nesbitt was honorary president of the order in Canada and president of the Ontario branch. He was also a Mason. He was a Conservative. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

His clubs were the Toronto, the Toronto Golf, the Ontario Jockey, the Rideau and the Ottawa Golf, Ottawa, and the Garrick and the Cecil, London, England.

SASKATCHEWAN POWER DEBATED

Government's Policy of Expropriation Criticized by Opposition

Regina, Sask., April 8.—Strong exception to the government's power policy with regard to expropriation was taken in the Legislature yesterday by J. G. Gardiner, opposition leader, and other Liberal members.

The opposition argued that a section in the bill to amend the Power Commission Act meant taking away for all practical purposes the power of expropriation from the commission.

Under the existing legislation the commission is enabled to expropriate any power plant in the province, whether privately or municipally owned, at any time it desires. The amendment does not affect its powers in connection with plants in villages. But it provides that with municipally owned plants in towns and cities the commission may not take expropriation proceedings unless sale to a private concern has actually been authorized by a vote of the by-passes.

Mr. Gardiner and T. C. Davis, Liberal, Prince Albert, argued that if the commission put in a bid for a municipal plant and that bid was rejected in favor of a private company's offer, then the commission automatically passed out of the picture.

In defense of the amendment, Hon. A. Macpherson, K.C., Attorney-General, stated that the government was chiefly concerned in the principle of public ownership, recognizing for such purpose a power plant owned either by the province or by a municipality. The section in question was finally allowed to go unchanged.

RECONSTRUCTED TOKIO MARKED

Celebrations Draw Attention to Recovery From Earthquake of 1923

Canadian Press
Tokio, April 8.—Although almost seven years have passed since the great earthquake and fire of September, 1923, devastated the capital of Japan, its citizens never will forget the warm and spontaneous sympathy and material aid with which the people of Canada and other nations came to their rescue in their time of supreme need.

Hon. Zenjiro Horikiri, mayor of Tokio, declared at a luncheon tendered twenty-two correspondents of foreign news agencies and newspapers on the eve of the recent festivities celebrating the reconstruction of Tokio.

Mayor Horikiri asked the newspapermen to make it known in their native lands that the Japanese people still had an undiminished feeling of gratitude towards those that came to the rescue.

Following the luncheon the correspondents were taken in a fleet of motor cars for a twenty-mile tour of the reconstructed area of the city. The work has been a stupendous one, and its accomplishment speaks well for the energy, fortitude, and determination of the Japanese people to overcome all obstacles.

RUSSIAN COAL SOLD IN CANADA

Questions on Anthracite Shipments in British Commons

Canadian Press Cable
London, April 8.—The assertion that Russian anthracite which is being sold to Canada is produced under conditions of "sweated labor" at a cost of a rouble, the equivalent of eighteen cents a day, was made in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by Sir Newton Moore, Conservative, Richmond.

Sir Newton asked the government the period of time and the total tonnage involved in the contracts for Russian coal going to Canada, and also to what extent this would displace shipments of Welsh anthracite. Hon. W. R. Smith, Parliamentary Secretary, in reply, referred the question to the statement of Hon. Ben Turner, secretary of the miners' department, on March 25, when Mr. Turner had denied the Russian coal was secured because of the apathy of British anthracite producers. British producers were taking steps to see the Canadian demand was supplied, Mr. Turner had added.

Sir Frederick Hall then asked if the government was aware 25,000 tons of Russian coal had already been sold to a Montreal firm.

JUDGE PERMITS STEEL MERGER

Refused Injunction to Stop Combine of Youngstown and Bethlehem Companies

Cleveland, Ohio, April 8.—Federal Judge Arthur J. The ruling was issued on a petition from B. R. Shover, of Pittsburgh, a stockholder.

SUGGESTS BOYCOTT WHERE U.S. FIRMS FIRE BRITISHERS

London, April 8 (By George Hambroton, Canadian Press staff correspondent).—The implication that British subjects, including Canadians, were dismissed from employment in the United States, owing to their nationality, was made in the House of Commons yesterday, when the Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, was asked what facilities the foreign office intended to provide for the repatriation of men who were dismissed in the United States and left without resources.

The question was put by W. E. D. Allen, Conservative member for Belfast West, who is associated with many business companies.

Mr. Allen asked the secretary to find out whether it was not a fact that British subjects were dismissed on the grounds of nationality. He requested the foreign office to publish the names of the firms carrying out this policy "in order that we in Britain may boycott them for victimizing our subjects."

Mr. Henderson ended discussion of the subject by replying, "I think you must take this question into very serious consideration."

ARTERIAL STOPS HALT COUNCIL

City-made Arterial Regulations Prove Stumbling Block

Oak Bay Fire Protection Renewed By City Council; Higher Next Year?

H. S. Pringle, city solicitor, advised the City Council yesterday evening against overruling arterial regulations in regard to fire vehicles, and stated that granting exemption to fire department apparatus at such stops would be in contravention of Provincial regulations in respect to the "common danger" provision.

The council tabled final action on the matter, with two legal opinions now in favor of compelling fire apparatus to draw to a stop at all arterial highways. The second opinion was from Elliott, Maclean and Shandley.

Alderman Woodward was of the opinion that the city should make a special exemption for fire vehicles by-law, to obviate the necessity for stops at arterial highways, but failed to secure support for this view. The city had created the stops by-law, he said.

RENEW FIRE FACT

The council renewed the usual fire protection agreement with Oak Bay for a further year, from March 31 last. Oak Bay will pay $8,000 directly to the city, and will give the usual grant of $1,500 to the B.C. Agricultural Association in addition.

The Victoria Fire Department would soon be in need of additional new equipment, and the possibility of having to establish a fire hall in the James Bay area was to be faced in the future, it was reported.

The council tabled action on a recommendation to earmark funds received from the Oak Bay fire protection plan for the purchase of new equipment, and also tabled a suggestion that Oak Bay be notified that fire protection from the city would cost more next year.

INCREASE INSURANCE

Assenting to a suggestion from the fire wardens, the council voted to increase the public liability and property damage insurance carried on fire department apparatus, now at $20,000 and $40,000, respectively, to $100,000 and $250,000, the whole to cost under $1,000 in premiums yearly.

CITY TO AID IN CLEAN-UP

Special Arrangements Made to Move Extra Refuse Week April 21

Special arrangements for the removal of extra refuse are being made by the city in connection with the annual observance of Clean-up Week, April 21 to April 26. The following statement was issued by the city engineer to-day: "The garbage department will shut down for the holiday all day Good Friday and Saturday, April 20 and 21, and will resume work on Monday, April 22, at 8 o'clock. The department will be prepared to take care of all calls for the removal of extra refuse."

"Rubbish must be put together and placed easy to access, in order to facilitate removal. Brush and other garbage debris will not be moved by the department, but such material may be sent down to the burners and garbage scows, where facilities will be provided for the disposal of same free of charge. The fire department will be pleased to issue bonfire permits on application."

"A flat scow will also be provided for the disposal of bulky material, such as old auto bodies and frames. Auto bodies must have all the woodwork and other burnable material removed before being deposited on the scow. This scow is also provided free of charge."

"Telephone 1614 from now on. Attention will be given to calls as near as possible in the order received."

FARMERS AWAIT FINAL PAYMENT ON 1928 CROP

Winnipeg, April 8.—No confirmation was forthcoming to-day from wheat pool officials of the reported statement of L. Hutcheson, Alberta pool director, that a small final payment would soon be made on the 1928 crop. It is considered highly improbable, however, that any immediate move would be made to add to the $1.18½ per bushel already given out.

No arrangements for a final 1928 payment have been made by the central board of the pool, according to W. A. MacLeod, publicity director, who points out that all decisions on crop payments are made by the central board.

In addition to the definite statement that the central board has made no final-payment move, present conditions are generally regarded as militating against any such decision at the present. No dissatisfaction has cropped up among the wheat pool members tending payment, and, besides, present situation of the market is rather uncertain.

On the 1929 crop a payment of $1.00 per bushel has already been made by the pool for wheat.

CITY COUNCIL ACCEPTS BIDS

New Warning Signals For Johnson Street Bridge Are Ordered

Tenders awarded by the City Council yesterday evening included contracts with the B.C. Hardware Company for the supply of 3,500 electric lamps for $1,126.75; the Northern Electric Company, $1,556 for 700 cluster light globes, and the Union Oil Company, 50,000 barrels of road oil at $1.50 per barrel.

Stapledon & Carter were awarded the contract for the supply of additional warning signals at Johnson Street bridge, to cost $610.

The city will lay 1,000 feet of three-plank sidewalk on May Street, between Moss and Dallas, for $270. Jessie and McPherson Streets will be merged and renamed Raynor Avenue. The southwest corner of Rupert and Collihan Streets will be rounded at a cost of $117.

Tenders for a supply of cast iron pipe for the waterworks department were opened, and returned to city officials for analysis and report.

A. H. Eastman, E. Jones and A. E. Gordon will be taken on the garbage and waterworks departments, after periods on probation.

The council voted $500 additional to the Friendly Help Society in response to a request for an added grant this month to take care of prior commitments.

Superintendent M. C. Robinson, in charge of the Western division of the Canadian National Institute of the Blind, made an eloquent plea for consideration of the council's decision to deny the use of property at the Public Library for the construction of a permanent stall for the members of the institute. There were 400 blind in B.C., only seventy-five of whom were employable, he stated. The council stood firm on its original decision.

ROYAL OAK GIRL IS SPRING BRIDE

Miss Ethel Bull Wed to Frank L. Webb at K. of C. Hall

A large number of guests assembled Saturday evening at the K. of C. Hall for the wedding of Ethel, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Bull, Manor House, Royal Oak, and Mr. Frank Leslie Webb, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Webb, 43 Burnside Road, Victoria. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Hugh Nixon. For the occasion, the hall was decorated with spring flowers and streamers. An archway of spring flowers from which was suspended a wedding bell formed the setting for the bride party during the marriage service.

Entering the hall on the arm of her father, the bride looked charming in a gown of shell-pink chiffon satin, embroidered with a veil of shell-pink net with a coronet of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of carnations, roses and maidenhair fern. Miss Bertha Campbell, who attended her, made a pretty maid of honor, gowning in a green georgette dress with hat in suite, and carried a shower bouquet of pink sweet peas and maidenhair fern. The other attendants, Mrs. Herbert Price and Miss Elsie Webb, wore frocks of pink silk taffeta and peach crepe back satin respectively, with moiré

Modern mothers have the leisure to really govern their kingdoms

MEDICAL AUTHORITIES GIVE LAUNDRIES CLEAN BILL OF HEALTH

In a recent survey among health officials in 29 Canadian cities, the old fallacy that laundry-washed clothes spread disease was exploded once and for all. Not one case of contagion was traceable to the laundries, they agreed. Laundries comply 100 percent with all city sanitary codes in existence, the report proved; the verdict being that laundries are safe—and safer than many other methods.

EVERY MOTHER is a Queen. But no Queen can have her kingdom happiest when she is worn out by too heavy housework. No mother can do full duty to her home when her house takes all of her time. Old-fashioned washday robs you of time, energy and nervous force—leaves you nothing to show for your toil but the prospect of another washday next week. Hundreds of women in this community have found freedom by turning to our modern laundry service. These women use our service time after time because we do an expert job. In each department skilled workers are carefully trained to serve you. Equipment designed by specialists protects your clothes. And our way safeguards your family's health, too! Get acquainted with our work. Telephone today for a routeman, and let him help you select a service suited to your needs.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children, in chambers and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

VARIABLE WEATHER REQUIRES APPROPRIATE CLOTHING

We know an elderly doctor who has a complex on the way children are dressed. The climate in which he lives is variable, for there are very cold days and mild spring-like ones. But the babies brought to him are, without exception, dressed all through the winter season as if it were constantly at its coldest peak. As soon as a mother carries her little Eskimo-wrapped baby into his presence, he takes off his glasses and looks the child over.

"Now, mother," he says, "what on earth have you got that child wrapped up as if you were headed for the North Pole? Don't you know that if you muffle that baby up in this weather he gets all hot and begins to perspire and then at the first cool breeze becomes chilled? Use your good judgment. Don't dress the baby in zero weather as you do on a day like this. Now take off all those sweaters and make that child comfortable." You can imagine with what trepidation she does.

One realizes that he has a task before him as lacking in noticeable results as "spitting into Niagara Falls" as a columnist so inelegantly and forcefully stated it.

CONSIDER VARIATIONS

Parents buy an outfit for winter or an outfit for spring, and on the child it goes regardless of the weather. Some mothers have a real fear about sending the child out on a warm spring day dressed in a manner that is suitable to the day. "Now keep on your sweater!" she shrieks after the departing figure. "You'll catch cold!"

And some other mothers, having purchased a spring coat of paper-like thinness, garb the child in it. If the month is a spring month, regardless of the unseasonable winter temperatures.

There are no rules about clothing children. In bitter weather, no matter what the month or what season's promise, one cannot send the child out with a little weep, legs bare to the thighs, cotton garments and low socks.

Those large armies of bare skin demand that real and vital energy be expended to keep the child warm.

It is just as poor judgment to send out a child wrapped to the eyes and burdened with wool when the day is warm and sunny and mild, whether the month be May or December.

Mrs. V. F. M. says in a letter of protest to this department: "Mothers wouldn't dress themselves the way they dress their children, no matter what the style. Her pet aversion is seeing children with short socks and thin underwear playing out on raw cold days (now happily past)."

As parents, our own feelings are not always certain criteria, for we are not as active nor as warm-blooded as our children. We can use our imagination, however, and try to suit the garment to the particular temperature of the particular day instead of making a certain type of garment the invariable accompaniment of a month or season.

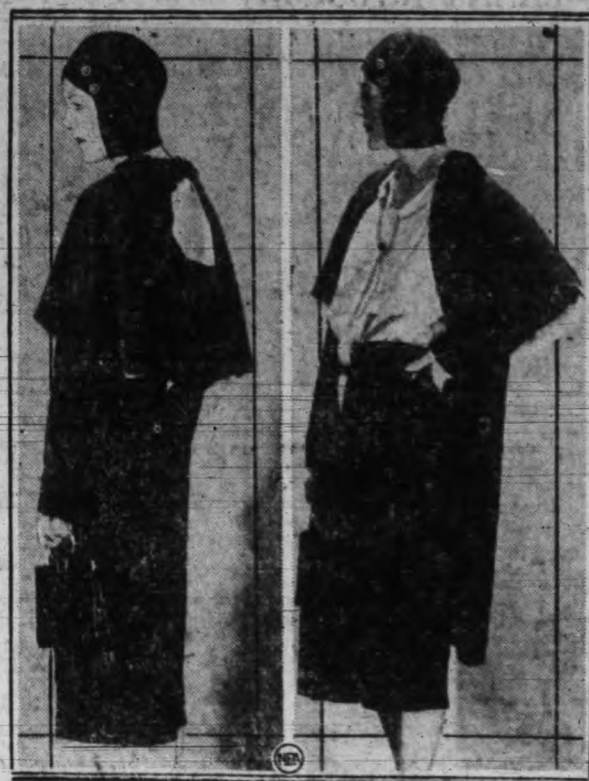

Chapter to Hold Tea For Funds

At the meeting of the Florence Nightingale Chapter, I.O.D.E., held at the Union Building on Monday afternoon, Mrs. K. C. Symons, regent, presided and nineteen members were present. Reports were presented of the successful bridge party held in Amphion Hall on March 23, 275 being added to the treasury as a result. It was decided to hold a home cooking sale at Spencer's on Saturday, April 20. Mrs. Harris, 1904 Fort Street, kindly placed her home at the disposal of the chapter for a silver tea on April 30. Easter tea will be served to the patients in the Jubilee Hospital pavilion on Wednesday, April 10.

Six applications for membership were received. A donation of $10 was voted to the Social Service League and $10 for the upkeep of soldiers' graves. Preliminary arrangements were made for the Alexandra Rose Day, which will be held on June 22.

AN AFTERNOON ENSEMBLE IN THE BLACK AND WHITE MODE

The black-and-white vogue for spring is smartly illustrated in this afternoon ensemble by Lucile Perry. It is of black Lucile crepe, and the bustle cape, seen at the left, is lined with white marocain. The blouse, too, shown at the right, is of white marocain. Note the original manner in which the skirt buttons on to the blouse. The hat is black felt with twin brass ornaments.

WOMAN IS HELD PRISONER FOR SIXTY YEARS

Victim of Fanatical Father Leaves Lonely Farm For First Time at His Death

Canadian Press

Middletown, Conn., April 8.—The death of Peter Wilson, ninety-six years old, a farmer, of Middle Haddam, ten miles from here, revealed a story of ignorance and loneliness. Jealously guarded for sixty years, when his daughter, Lillie, sixty years old, came to see her father's body.

It was the first time in her life that Miss Wilson had left her father's farm. Electric lights, paved streets, trolley cars and stone buildings were a surprise to the woman, who drove into town with a neighbor, dressed in a sunbonnet and a rusty black gown trailing over her ankles.

Middle Haddam, a village of 300 inhabitants, is set in a circle of stony hills on the bank of the Connecticut River. There is no railroad near, and the roads are rough and rocky. On the farm, six or eight miles from the village, Lillie Wilson was born.

Her mother died when she was a baby and since then her father has kept her a close prisoner in the tiny house. Hard as the rocks of his hills, Peter Wilson did all the work necessary to keep up his fifty-acre farm, which kept him and his daughter alive until a few weeks ago, when a fall fractured his hip.

NEIGHBORS THREATENED
Few automobiles came down the road where the Wilsons lived, and when neighbors driving by offered to stop for a few words of gossip, Wilson came out with a shotgun, warning them away. After a while the neighbors stopped coming. Many of the farmers in the district, younger than the Wilsons and newcomers, did not know there was a woman in the house.

Years ago Wilson's two other daughters rebelled against their father. One dark night they took a horse and buggy and ran away. They went to New York where Phoebe still lives, unmarried. Her sister, Hilma, married a man named Erickson. They never came home.

BOOKS TABOO
Books and newspapers were taboo in the Wilson household. Lillie Wilson knew nothing of the march of modern life. When there was shopping to be done in the Middle Haddam house it was her father who took the horse and went to town, first taking care to lock his daughter in.

When Wilson broke his hip a few weeks ago, a neighbor took him to the hospital. Lillie did not want to go. She had to stay at home, the daughter said, and take care of the farm until her father got better, or he would be angry.

When the aged farmer died the neighbor drove out and told his daughter. She climbed into the automobile—the first she had ever been in—and sat quietly on the trip to Middletown. Her eyes opened wide as they approached the town, and her escort was busy explaining the uses of everything she saw. Such things as radio, phonographs and talking pictures she refused to believe in until she saw them.

LEAVES SIX-AGE
When Wilson's will was opened it was found that he left an estate of $50,000 to his daughter, the result of the years of hoarding on his farm. Miss Wilson will take her inheritance and begin to live the life denied her all her sixty years. She probably will go to her sister's home in New York.

Peter Wilson asked in his will that he have no funeral. He wanted to be buried in the hills where he had lived.

Mrs. J. Hinchliffe To Open Bazaar At Cedar Hill

The Cedar Hill Parent-Teacher Association will hold a bazaar to-morrow afternoon at St. Aidan's Hall, Cedar Hill Cross Road. Mrs. J. Hinchliffe will open the function at 3 o'clock, and the doors will remain open until 6 o'clock. The proceeds will be devoted towards payment for the piano which the association recently purchased for Cedar Hill School.

Strong working committees will be engaged this evening and throughout to-morrow in decorating the hall and arranging the stalls. At a general meeting held last night the members received with great enthusiasm reports by stall convengers which indicated that the bazaar would be one of the most noteworthy affairs held in Spanish for some years.

The convengers and helpers at the various stalls are as follows: Plain and fancy work, Mrs. Maynard, and Mrs. Tugge; miscellaneous, Mrs. Harper, Mrs. Silver, Mrs. Simmonds and Mrs. McDougall; home cooking, Mrs. Besenbaum; Mrs. Barnes; candy, school girls under the direction of Miss Cholmondeley; Miss Schofield; refreshments, Mrs. Miller.

B.C. Woman Found Dead in California

San Diego Cal., April 8.—Mrs. Laura Geislerick sixty-three of Kaslo B.C. was found dead yesterday by her daughter in their home in La Jolla, the coroner's office reported.

Mrs. Geislerick had been spending the winter here for her health. Yesterday her daughter left to make arrangements for a return trip to Kaslo and when she returned found her mother dead in a chair. Burners on the gas stove were open but not lighted, and nearby food indicated that Mrs. Geislerick had been about to prepare lunch.

An inquest will be held to-day.

The distinguished visitor, who was accompanied by Mrs. A. M. D. Victoria to Be Well Represented in Major Tennis Tournaments

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Now That Jimmy McLarnin, slugger Vancouver veteran, has gained a decision over Young Jack Thompson of Chicago, it looks as if this will be the most profitable year boxing has experienced in many a day. Matches in prospect, which promise not only great revenue for the promoters but also immense profit for the contestants, would bring together Jimmy McLarnin and Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, at St. Louis, Sammy Mandell or Slinger and Jackie (Kid) Berg and Battalino and "Kid" Borg. Of course, the heavyweights attract the most interest, therefore the fight between Jack Sharkey and Max Baer will be the big fight of the year.

Of all the stars who will appear in U.S. ring this summer, Max Baer is the unknown quantity. His defeat of Paulino stamped him as one of the best heavyweights in the class, and because he is supposed to have improved in his fighting he must be considered the big contender for the heavyweight title.

McLarnin is regarded as the best welterweight, even though he had his hands full beating Young Jack Thompson. Tony Canzoneri was one of Al Singer's rivals, but he was never able to defeat Slinger. These two are natural rivals and a meeting between them would draw a capacity house wherever staged. Summing it up, the outdoor season in boxing promises to be the best held for some years. At least three championships are scheduled already. Schmeling and Sharkey appearing in one, McLarnin and Fields in the other, and Battalino, featherweight champion, and Chocolate in the third.

Many baseball fans are wondering just how the New York Yankees will make out this season under their new manager, Bob Shawkey. The Yanks slipped last season and the Philadelphia Athletics won the American League title, but Shawkey has done a lot of reworking with the Yanks this season.

Let's take player for player and see what Shawkey has to offer. Babe Ruth—Signed two years' contract for $80,000 three weeks ago. His forty-six home runs last season and batted .345. Celebrated his thirty-sixth birthday last month. In better physical condition than last season and should have another big season. Some of the other players on the Yankees say Babe has slowed up in his fielding. He is still the best outfielder in league. Babe predicts that he will hit fifty home runs or more. Picks Yankees to win pennant in American League and Cubs in National.

Lou Gehrig—Had poor season last year. Hitting fell off many points. Finished with an even .300 average. A young man, with plenty of good baseball years left in him. Confident that he will stage comeback this season and hit close to .350. In good physical condition and hitting ball fairly hard in exhibition games.

Tony Lazzeri—Looks better than ever. He has stood out since he was traded to the trip both in his hitting and fielding. Throwing arm strong and should enjoy another big season. Finished last season with .354 average. Maybe some folks think he is a slacker. He is the best second baseman in the American League, but our money rides on Lazzeri.

Mark Koenig—Returns to his old job at shortstop. Rumored more than once last season that Koenig would leave club this year. When Shawkey was named manager, he announced that Koenig would return to his old position at short. Fielding on trip erratic at times. Started last season at third, but could not make a success out of it. Shawkey says that Koenig will have a good year and be one of the stand-out shortstops of the 1930 season.

Ben Chapman—Signed by Yankees in 1923. Famed out to Asheville this year. Last season with St. Paul Club. Threw side-arm to first base last season. This fault has been corrected by Shawkey and now he is throwing overhand. Has good arm and is a fair fielder.

Earl Combs—Still a first-class outfielder. Hit .345 last season and rated about the best lead-off man in either league. Always in condition and while he has many grey hairs in his head, is only twenty-eight years old. Nothing for Shawkey to worry about here.

Allen Cooke—One of the most talked-about players in baseball. Ever came to a training camp. Still a big mystery as to his hitting and fielding. Rated as one of the leading outfielders in the American League. Signed with St. Paul Club. Has been weak against the left-handed pitcher of the Braves and has played drives hit over his head poorly.

Bill Dickey—One of the best young backstops to come up to the big leagues in some time. Was the first-string catcher last year and batted .324. Will do most of the catching this season.

"Bubbles" Hargrave—Veteran catcher bought from St. Paul Club. Was waived out of National League two years ago. Batted .339 with St. Paul Club and will catch young pitchers. Thirty-six years old, but still a good ball player and will help the Yankees both by his catching and hitting.

George Fingers—Has been hunting and pitching in Florida all winter. Has been at training camp with arm in good condition. Won eighteen games last season and probably will pitch the opening game against the Athletics on April 15. Should have big season.

Walter Hoyt—Reported this winter that he was traded to Detroit. Deal failed to go through. Had about his

New Players Will Bolster Capital City Contingent

Prospects of Victoria lawn tennis players lifting some of the major British Columbia, Pacific Northwest and Western Canada championships this season look exceptionally bright. During the last winter a number of new players have settled in this city and their presence will considerably bolster the Capital City's representation in the big tournaments scheduled at coast cities this season. With the fine weather rapidly approaching all the players are getting their rackets and equipment into shape and will soon commence their training.

Boston Bruins Given Welcome By Calgarians

Calgary, Alta., April 8.—En route to Vancouver and California, where they are billed for a number of exhibition hockey games, Art Ross and his Boston Bruins passed through here yesterday evening and were welcomed at the depot by over 200 fans. TWIN SOCCER PROGRAMME SCHEDULED

Two Cup Finals Carded at Royal Athletic Park on Saturday Afternoon

City Juniors to Meet Lady Smith; Wests and Esquimalt in Peden Cup Final

A double-header will be offered Victoria football devotees on Saturday afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park in the form of two cup finals. In the opening match Victoria City and Lady Smith junior teams will meet in the final of the Davis Cup. In the second match Victoria West and Esquimalt will oppose each other in the final of the Peden Cup competition. The junior game will commence at 2:45 o'clock and at the conclusion the senior fixture will be called.

Two of the finest junior teams on the island will be seen in action in the Davis Cup match. Victoria City, winners of the Lower Island title after defeating the Y.M.C.A. in the final, which was hard fought. Lady Smith, engaged in a stiff series with the other Up-Island clubs and is ready to give the local champs a great match.

WESTS FAVORITES—With two previous victories over Esquimalt to their credit, the Wests are favored to win Saturday's match. Within the last month the greenshirts have met and defeated the dockers twice, once in the Jackson Cup series by 4-3, and last Saturday in the Combination Cup series, 2-0.

The four Wednesday League eleven will be engaged to-morrow afternoon in regular league fixtures. At the Royal Athletic Park, the Navy, leaders of the league, will play Saanich United, while Batchelors and Hudson's Bay will meet at Beacon Hill.

These games will commence at 2:45 o'clock.

worst season with the Yankees last year. Won ten games and lost nine. Still a young man, and in better, far better condition than last year. Has worked hard in south and should stage a comeback. Figures that he will win twenty games or more.

Herb Pennock—Pitching overhand again this year. Won nine games and lost eleven last year. Shawkey says his arm is O.K. and he will be one of the regular pitchers. Pennock is thirty-five years old and has been in the American League since 1913. Probably will pitch once in every six days.

Tom Zachary—Like Pennock cannot be worked too often. Won twelve straight games last year. Hardly likely to equal that record this year. While a veteran, still is a good left-hander and endowed with plenty of smartness.

Ed Wells—First year with the Yankees in 1929. Won thirteen games and lost nine. In good condition and should better that record this year. Probably will be among the leading southpaws of the season.

Victoria's men this year will undoubtedly be stronger than for many years. Heading the list of newcomers is Lieut.-Com. J. C. Edwards, who heads the Nova Scotia ranking list and recently was ranked seventh in Canada. He has played in many Old Country tournaments including the winter meets in France. He is expected to be number one player in Victoria this year. Don Campbell, former junior B.C. champion, who has been away in England for two years, has returned, and is expected to strengthen the local contingent considerably. A. M. D. Fairbairn, former club champion at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club, has returned from New York and will be a valuable addition.

CUNNINGHAM BACK—Gerald Cunningham, runner-up for the city championship last year, has returned to the city and will play with the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club. It is expected that the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club will challenge for the Starr-Reynolds Trophy this year for the first time. This cup is emblematic of the club championship of the Pacific Northwest. Edwards, Cunningham, and Campbell are expected to form the local team.

Gordon, Victoria club champion, will be out to retain his title against the stiffer competition. Hocking, city and island champion, will also play in the tournaments and inter-club competitions. Steve Jones, former junior B.C. titlist, will be ready for serious tennis this year, as will Bobby Schenck, former junior star, Eric McCallum, who was troubled with a bad knee last year, Hugo Raymond, Jerry Bowden, Peter and Paul Phillips, who have put aside their bedridden rackets. I. M. Jones, last August, but had been recognized as champion by the National Boxing Association since his victory over Young Jack Thompson, California negro, in Chicago in March, 1929. He has fought several times, but has not defended the championship as required by the N.B.A. The Illinois commission notified "Big Boy" Fier, manager, that it would recommend the throne be declared vacant unless Fields defends his title soon.

Young Corbett, 111, California youngster, and Thompson, have issued challenges to Fields, the former's demand for a crack at the title being backed by a $2,500 forfeit. Thompson's manager said he would post a forfeit.

year was runner up to Miss Campbell in the junior provincial championships.

MAY GO EAST—It is not unlikely that Hope Leeming and Mary Campbell will be sent to Toronto this year for the Dominion championships. The two girls have earned the right to make the trip, and if the B.C.L.T.A. sends players to the tournament it is more than probable that they will be the ones sent, unless some of the men are sent from the mainland. Neither of the local players have been east before, and it would give them valuable experience, and then again, there is the inter-British Empire games at Hamilton following the Canadian championships, for which they would be eligible if selected.

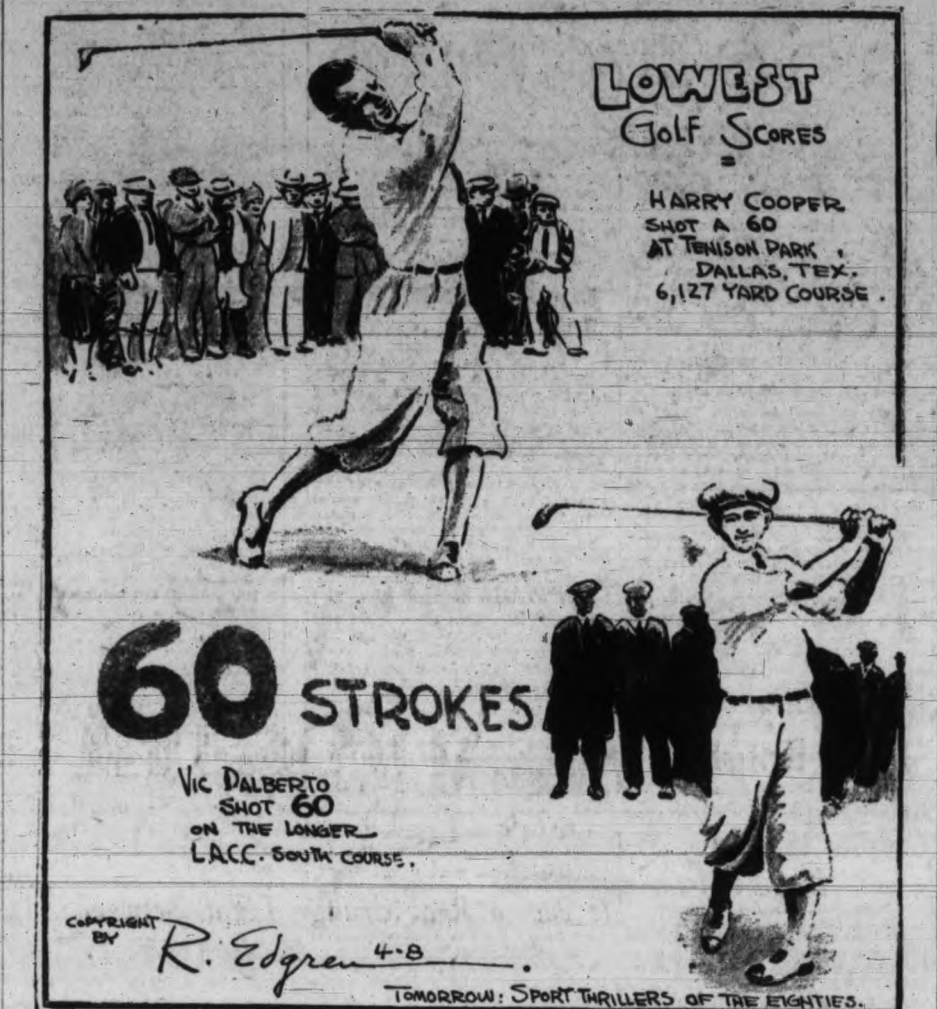

WOMAN PLAYERS ALONG—The women players of Victoria are considered the best in British Columbia and the Pacific Northwest, and with a little help from the men, could carry the city to victory in any team match against mainland clubs. Marjorie Leeming, former Canadian champion, still leads the local women, closely followed by her sister, Hope, who is still improving rapidly. Mary Campbell completes the trio of outstanding players of the city. Doreen Swayne, who was out last year following an operation, is keen to make good in her last year junior competition and will try to regain her title as junior provincial champion. Helen Campbell, another Victoria player, who came ahead last year, will be playing in the major meets this year, and will add strength to the team. Peggy Jackson has returned from Portland, where she has spent the best part of last year, and is in a welcome addition to the ranks. Velda Rittner, now in California, seems to improve yearly, through being able to get practice at school throughout the year, and last

Jackie Fields Is Ordered To Defend Championship By Illinois Commission

Chicago, April 8.—Jackie Fields, world welterweight champion, has been ordered to sign for a championship fight by the Illinois State Athletic Commission. The commissioners decided that Fields had delayed too long the business of defending his title.

Fields defeated Joe Dundee, then champion, in a title bout at Detroit last August, but had been recognized as champion by the National Boxing Association since his victory over Young Jack Thompson, California negro, in Chicago in March, 1929. He has fought several times, but has not defended the championship as required by the N.B.A. The Illinois commission notified "Big Boy" Fier, manager, that it would recommend the throne be declared vacant unless Fields defends his title soon.

Young Corbett, 111, California youngster, and Thompson, have issued challenges to Fields, the former's demand for a crack at the title being backed by a $2,500 forfeit. Thompson's manager said he would post a forfeit.

Attractive Card Of Hoop Games At Y.M.C.A. To

The Y.M.C.A. junior club basketball champions will be decided in the curtain-raiser in the "Y" knockout game to be played at the association's gymnasium to-morrow evening. The opening fixture will see the Jolly Rogers take the floor against the Lindes at 7:30 o'clock.

At 8:15 o'clock Harmony will meet the Red Birds in the ladies' section of the knockout league, while High School will clash with Keating in the feature game at 9 o'clock.

All games promise to be keenly contested.

Don Fraser And Snell Battle To Six-round Draw

Spokane, Wash., April 8.—Don Fraser of Spokane and Doc Snell of Tacoma slugged six fast rounds to a draw in the boxing bout here yesterday evening. They are junior welterweights.

Fraser and Snell mixed it fast and hot, and the draw decision was unpopular with the ringiders. Most scores gave Fraser three rounds, Snell one and two even.

Defence Calls For Individual Ability

Defence in basketball pretty much resolves itself into individual ability. After all, teamwork puts the team squarely up to each player. To prevent scoring by the opposition the player himself is thrown upon his own resources. Team play sends an opponent for his basket. It is up to the individual concerned to circumvent this opponent.

Sometimes a dribbler is encountered who pivots to pass to a teammate; when the defensive player rushes him. The way to cover in this situation is show in the upper panel of the sketch. At other times the dribbler comes down court. The individual's job then consists of both driving him to a sideline and covering him from his front.

Often a try for basket may be stopped in its incipency, as an opponent takes a rebound. The way to handle that situation is sketched on the left. To-morrow—The closing article of this series.

Kansas City Winners of Hockey Title

Kansas City, Mo., April 8.—The 1930 American Hockey Association championship was in the hands of the Kansas City Flyers to-morrow, wrested from the Tulsa Oilers, 1929 title holders.

The final game of the post-season championship series here yesterday evening resulted in a 2-1 victory for the Oilers, but the Kansas Cityans had an advantage in points, the basis upon which the championship was determined because the contenders were tied in the number of games won.

Each team took two games and one was a tie, the Flyers accumulating a margin of two points in the five contests.

Miyake is rated as one of the hardest men in the strictly to win from a good lead in the stretch to win from Lady Beth, filly owned by J. A. Parsons. COAST BALL TEAMS SWING INTO ACTION

Eight Clubs Open Season To-day; Seals and Los Angeles Favorites

Hollywood, Last Year's Champs, Play Oakland; Nevers Is Released

San Francisco, April 8.—The twenty-eighth Pacific Coast League baseball season opened in four California cities to-day.

At recreation park in this city, the San Francisco Seals and the Seattle Indians were to start; Sacramento and the Missions were to play in Sacramento; Hollywood, last year's pennant winner, were to meet Oakland at Oakland, and the Portland Beavers were to play Los Angeles in the latter city.

Perfect weather was assured for the opening games.

For the Seals, Curt Davis was chosen to pitch to Gaston. While either Rudy Kallio or Kuntz was in line to hurl for the Indians.

At Oakland, Hank Hulvey was expected to take the mound for Hollywood with Bender of Sevierd on the receiving end. Grainger or Daglia received the pitching assignment for the Acorns with Ernie Lombardi behind his plate.

NEVERS RELEASED—In the Sacramento game, Bryan, one of the best pitchers on the so-called "farm" team, took the mound for Sacramento with Koehler catching. Herb McQuaid was on tap to hurl for the Reds and Hoffman was selected to receive.

Wake Killefer, Mission's manager, surprised the faithful on his arrival in the Capital City yesterday evening with the announcement that Ernie Nevers, hockey right-hander, had been given his unconditional release. Killefer said the former all-American Stanford University half-back had failed to round into form. Nevers came to the Coast League from the St. Louis Browns two seasons back.

Southern California fans saw Mays and Woodall for Portland in action against Earl Barfoot and Skiff for the Angels.

Despite the fact that Hollywood offers practically intact the same pennant-winning team of last year, San Francisco and Los Angeles have been installed pre-season favorites. Barring upsets not unusual in baseball, "About 60,000 fans are expected to turn out for the four games, while 150,000 more probably will tune in their radios, watch from roof tops or convenient knotholes.

BILL PEDEN TO RACE IN EAST

Signs Fifty-dollar-a-Day Contract For Montreal Meet Starting April 20

Bill "Torchy" Peden, Victoria professional cycling ace, has just signed a contract for the six-day race in Montreal commencing on April 20, it was learned here today. For his performance in that city he will receive $50 a day as well as any prize money he may win.

In signing the contract, Peden, who has recently returned to the game after a long suspension due to a disagreement between the Canadian and U.S. cycling authorities, made a declaration against any possibility of competing against outlaw riders, and will stand no danger of losing his standing in the city where he was banned last year.

It was learned that the Montreal Club, responsible for Peden's suspension, has been re-established by the United States Association.

Following his race in Eastern Canada Peden will train for a similar grind in New York early this June.

SOCCER PRACTICE

The Victoria city junior football team will hold a practice at the Royal Athletic Park at 6:15 p.m. to-night. All players are requested to be present.

"Iron Man" to Give Public Exhibition Of Strength Here

"Rocky" Brooks, Victoria ironman, will give an exhibition of strength here at the end of the week when he will attempt to hold in two teams of horses in a demonstration on Bianshard Street. "Rocky" has secured special horses so that he can set one team pulling northward and the other southward, while he stands between them and by sheer strength prevents them from moving ahead.

He has previously pulled cars against their power and will be given plenty of chance to prove his prowess against the four 1,800 pound horses.

A collection will be made following the act in aid of the Solatium. The event will be staged under the auspices of the Tillamook Athletic Club.

Cyril Tolley Thinks British Team Is Strong

AN OLD TIMER'S
SCRAPBOOK
BY TIM MCGRATH

It was a Real Grudge Fight Between "Mysterious Billy" and Gallagher

THERE are many interesting stories about the savagery of "Mysterious Billy" Smith. Smith at times was really ferocious and had to be held back by his main strength when he went into the ring. Marquis of Queensbury rule cramped his style somewhat.

The Mysterious One and Oakland Billy Gallagher were both at daggers drawn the night of their battle, back in '33. The men were bitter, the paper printed everything each said about his opponent, the training camp attacks were smoked up. The climax came in the dressing room when each fighter told the other he was going to bite his head off.

Both fighters professedly shouted that two could play at that game. The antipathy was so great that Mike Sullivan, who referred, went to each corner to give instructions, instead of calling the men together. Each fighter told the world he'd cripple the other.

At the song, both leaped to the centre of the ring, and crashed. You could hear teeth snap as well as gloves thud. Gallagher bit Smith's shoulder. Smith jerked loose, back-heeled Gallagher, and threw him as hard as he

On those days, a fighter had to go to his own—not a neutral—corner, where an opponent was down. Gallagher lay between Smith and his corner. Instead of walking around him, Mysterious Billy stepped on Oakland Billy's face and stomach as he strode to his corner. The fight ended there, Referee Sullivan calling it "no contest."

AFTER the fight, they met in a cafe, and it was necessary to throw hot water on the pair to separate them, so vicious was their rough-and-tumble on the cafe floor.

The United Commercial Travelers will play the second round for the "Our Own Brand Butter" golf trophy Saturday at the Uplands starting at 9:30 o'clock. It was announced by Frank Partridge this morning.

A. C. Felt, well-known Uplands player is at present holder of the trophy, but judging from the entry list he will have plenty of competition this year and will have to play first-class golf to retain his honor.

Pull handicaps will be allowed and several prizes will be awarded.

All travelers wishing to play are requested to communicate with Frank Partridge as soon as possible.

Members of the Uplands Golf Club will join in a dinner at the clubhouse.

As the weather is so hot, it depends entirely on the boy and upon his age when he begins to play. Retailer, distributor and manufacturer alike have proved the superior efficacy of daily newspapers as sales instruments. Their abiding preference for daily newspaper advertising is based on years of experience.

The daily newspaper deals with things of to-day. It records what is going on now. Attuned to the modern tempo, it is the master expression---in the advertising field---of the twentieth century demand for despatch, action and results.

Every day it carries to its readers the pulsating news of the world of people and the latest buying news of the world of merchandise.

Daily newspapers create more than desire for a product. They provide the necessary impetus to translate desire into actual purchase.

The daily newspaper is an immediate sales stimulant. It breeds instant action on the part of the buyer. Newspaper advertising sends customers to the retail counter NOW---TO-DAY.

NO CONFIDENCE WILL BE MOVED

Leader of Liberal Opposition
Puts Notice on Saskatchewan Order Papers

Regina, Sask., April 8.—For the first time since it took office, the new Saskatchewan Government faces a "want of confidence" motion.

In the Legislature yesterday afternoon, J. C. Gardiner, leader of the Liberal opposition, gave notice that he would on Wednesday move the following resolution.

"That in view of the fact that the Minister of Public Works, Hon. J. E. Bryant, K.C., was unable to substantiate before a judge and jury his charges made on the floor of the House against Dr. R. M. Mitchell, of Weyburn, and that the Provincial Treasurer, Hon. Howard McConnell, K.C., was unable before the committee of public accounts and printing to substantiate the statements made by Walter Weston, chartered accountant, in his report on the farm loans board, and afterwards repeated by the Provincial Treasurer in his speech on the debate on the address in reply to the Speeches from the Throne, the Government, as at present constituted, does not hold the confidence of this House."

That the operations of the Saskatchewan farm loans board, along normal lines was the gist of the finding of the committee of the Legislature that has been investigating the report prepared for the Government by A. J. Weston, chartered accountant of Saskatoon.

The finding of the committee was prepared by a sub-committee of its members representing all the groups in the House and yesterday the main committee accepted the report of the sub-committee and submitted it to the Legislature, where it was adopted unanimously at the afternoon sitting.

The finding of the committee on the point as to the soundness of the operations of the board, whose business methods had been attacked in the Weston report, was as follows:

"Your committee is of the opinion that the losses which must be taken as a result of past operations of the board are what might have been expected when all the circumstances are taken into consideration."

Sooke

The monthly meeting of the Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute was held in Sooke Hall on April 4. There was a good gathering of visitors and friends, twenty-one in all being present, the president, Mrs. E. Horwood, taking the chair.

The principal item on the agenda was an address by Mrs. J. D. Gordon on "Parliamentary Procedure." Mrs. Gordon's address was greatly appreciated.

The question was introduced of the form of the competition for the young people for this year, and a committee was appointed to discuss details and suggestions, and to present their conclusions to the next meeting for final arrangements.

Mrs. McLoughlin was present with Mrs. Gordon.

Two were enjoyed at the termination of the meeting.

H. Page, who has been undergoing hospital treatment for an accident sustained while at work, has recovered sufficiently to return to his home on Sooke Road. Mrs. Page has also returned from Victoria with her infant son, who has been under the doctor's care.

Mrs. H. Sheppard and her daughter of Victoria were guests of Mrs. C. Richardson, Sooke Road, for the week-end.

Miss Daphne Justice of Victoria has been staying for a few days with her parents at their home on Otter Point Road.

Mrs. Francis and her daughter, Doreen, from Victoria, have arrived in Sooke, where they will be staying with Mrs. Sullivan of Sooke Road, who has been staying in Victoria with her infant daughter owing to the latter's illness, has now returned to Sooke and has resumed business.

Miss Marjorie Murray of Victoria spent the week-end with her aunt, Mrs. Brownsey, of Sooke Road.

Chamber Primary Election Is Held

Returns in the primary election for the 1930 electorate of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce were filed yesterday. The following eighteen members, out of which nine will be chosen, were nominated: Mayor Anson, H. E. Bowman, C. E. H. Branson, Alfred Carmichael, Harold Digson, S. J. Drake, James Fletcher, P. B. Fowler, S. J. Hall, C. P. Hill, A. E. Humphries, R. H. B. Ker, David Leeming, W. A. Luney, George McGregor, James Partitt, J. W. Spencer and Edwin Tomlin.

FARMERS ACCEPT MARKETING PLAN

Commercial production of peas, beans and corn for the out-of-season trade will be initiated in Saanich this summer. Following an address by H. G. Brown, manager of the Victoria Cold Storage Co., before the Keating Cooperative-Fruit Exchange on Friday evening at Brentwood, a special committee secured pledges from a number of farmers of Keating district that acreage would be planted to garden vegetables.

Between ten and twenty cars of produce are expected to be grown on acreage already pledged, which will be sufficient for a "reliable" test of handling, marketing and prices. Acreage in other parts of Saanich is expected to be devoted to vegetables this year.

No More Piles

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salve can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds, because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief to pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. MacFarlane Drug Co., Vancouver Drug Co. and druggists anywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee. (Adv.)

BRITISH "SOLDIER PRINCE" IS ILL

The 80-year-old Duke of Connaught, above, uncle of King George, and once Governor-General of Canada, is reported to be gravely ill at Mentone, France. Known to his countrymen as the "Soldier Prince," he joined the British army at the age of eighteen and saw much active service. His mother was the late Queen Victoria.

U.S. May Bid For Tourists From Canada

Washington, April 8.—Creation of a division of travel in the commerce department, to promote tourist travel in the United States, particularly from Canada, was proposed today by Representative Iyer, Missouri. He would have a travel trade commissioner at Ottawa, and assistant commissioner placed in United States consular offices at Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

WED, BUT COURTING DAYS ARE NOT OVER

Marriage will not interfere with her tennis. Like Helen Wills, Ellen Bennett, above, recently became Mrs. F. Whittington—intends to continue in tournament competition. The English star has begun her spring training and may visit this continent in international play this summer.

ADMIRAL BEATTY'S SON IS CANDIDATE

London, April 8.—Admiral Earl Beatty's twenty-five-year-old son, Viscount Borodale, has been adopted as prospective Conservative candidate in the Peckham division of Camberwell, London. Viscount Borodale is a naval lieutenant.

Peckham is now represented in Parliament by J. Bennett, Labour. In the last election was 15,751 for Beckett; 12,466 for J. D. Cooke, Conservative, and 6,187 for G. L. Phillips, Liberal.

Hope For Premier Gold Seen Despite Failures

Failure of Premier to develop anything like what was anticipated at Peterborough, Silverado and the other subsidiaries in the Portland Canal, along with persistent rumors that ore reserves in the Premier proper are being depleted, has caused the public to be gun shy.

The company should be in a strong position as far as cash reserve is concerned, and with a capable engineering staff, should have no difficulty in acquiring other producers to perpetuate the company as a dividend payer.

Unemployment Peak Passed

New York, April 8.—Peak of unemployment has passed and jobless in New York City are gradually returning to work.

This is the report of the Merchants Association, based on the study of conditions in the four largest industries.

Chicago, April 8.—Steel mills in the Chicago district this week are maintaining output at 90 to 95 per cent of capacity.

BOY FISHERMAN DROWNS
Vancouver, April 8.—Robert Wellington, seven, was drowned last yesterday afternoon when he waded into Trout Lake on the outskirts of the city while on a fishing expedition. According to a boy companion, the lad waded into the water and immediately disappeared. The body had not been recovered at a late hour last night.

GREATEST TRUSTS NOW FORMING IN U.S. BUSINESS

Mergers Being Effectuated in Railroads, Farm and Steel Industries

By Ken Clark, Staff Correspondent,
Canadian Press

Washington, D.C., April 8.—Organization of the United States as an economic unit is proceeding with unprecedented rapidity. All signs point to a disappearance of the public prejudice against mergers and combines, and against government assistance to private enterprise.

A few outstanding facts may be noted.

Four months ago President Hoover summoned a conference of the heads of industries and an organization of an advisory council to work in co-operation with the Department of Commerce in checking the violence of business relations was effected.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has produced a plan for merging the railroads of the country into twenty-two huge systems.

The Federal Farm Board is making efforts to procure the organization of producers of wheat, cotton, tobacco, grapes and other agricultural commodities.

The Bethlehem Steel Corporation and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company.

The big food packers of Chicago—Armour and Company, Swift and Company, Wilson and Company, Cudahy Packing Company—have pending before the Supreme Court of the district of Columbia a request that their voluntary agreement to confine their activities to the whole packing trade be modified.

The United States Shipping Board has made contracts with private corporations for carrying mails, and on that basis has loaned to these corporations at a low rate of interest millions of dollars with which to build ships to carry the United States Merchant Marine flag on the seven seas.

TARIFF TO CHECK TRADE
While the intensive internal organization is going forward and extraordinary efforts are being made by the government to stimulate foreign trade, what appears to be a slightly anomalous bit of work will be turned out by Congress, according to Representative Garner of Texas, before June 1. This is the highest protective tariff law in the country's history. Economic experts differ as to its effect, but acting as a check on imports it would seem it is hardly calculated to forward the interests of the United States abroad.

Senator Capper of the farm state of Kansas calls it an aid to agriculture as well as other industry, and appears to think it will have favorable domestic results.

Coast Foundation Declares Dividends

San Francisco, April 8.—Directors of Coast Foundation Inc. today declared an initial dividend of five cents per share upon the preferred stock of the corporation, payable May 10 to stockholders of record April 10.

Stockholders of Coast Foundation Inc. are listed all over the western area, and to a certain extent in the east. The purpose of the corporation is that of developing from San Francisco an investment trust operation of considerable magnitude, and Coast Foundation Inc. represents the nucleus of capital for the entire activity.

The corporation owns the securities of different types of investment trusts, distributing its funds into investment trusts concerned with the purchase of bank stocks, insurance stocks, railroad stocks, public utility stocks, and the stocks of industrial, as well as the purchase of the securities of investment trusts diversified internationally in bonds, credit institutions, preferred stocks and common stocks.

The object has been to place the funds of Coast Foundation Inc. stockholders into investment trusts in such a way that they represent worldwide diversification.

The president of Coast Foundation Inc. is George P. Edwards, publisher of Coast Banker and Investor, San Francisco. C. W. Ellsworth, nationally known as an authority on investment trusts, is executive vice-president.

With development in Turner Valley and surrounding fields proceeding at a faster rate than ever before, and presenting brighter prospects for the successful completion of more wells this season than have ever been brought in during one year, Calgary oil stocks should show some appreciation during the next few months. The Financial Post thinks, providing a sufficient number of the investors have recovered from the financially tight position in which they found themselves as a result of the stock market crash last fall.

The progress will, however, be slow, since there are many investors laying in wait for a market rise so that they can sell and realize some cash on their investments which looked gloomy for a while. This will prevent any very rapid progress, but without doubt there is much money to be made in Alberta oil stocks, and if the oil developments succeed in their quest for production, then oil stocks must advance.

THE SHAPE OF CANADA'S SURFACE

It is not generally known that the surface of the earth at the North Pole is approximately thirteen miles closer to the centre of the earth than is the surface at the equator. In Canada the form of the surface is determined by the triangulation and traverses of the Geodetic Survey of Canada. Department of the Interior, which makes scientific investigations to determine the nature of the dip of the surface as it goes from the sea to the land for the thirteen miles shorter in the earth's polar radius. The use of traverses in various parts of Canada to assist in determining the shape and form of Canada's surface, which is of course neither plane or spherical, has resulted in much investigation research.

Outlook Brighter For Turner Valley

With development in Turner Valley and surrounding fields proceeding at a faster rate than ever before, and presenting brighter prospects for the successful completion of more wells this season than have ever been brought in during one year, Calgary oil stocks should show some appreciation during the next few months. The Financial Post thinks, providing a sufficient number of the investors have recovered from the financially tight position in which they found themselves as a result of the stock market crash last fall.

The progress will, however, be slow, since there are many investors laying in wait for a market rise so that they can sell and realize some cash on their investments which looked gloomy for a while. This will prevent any very rapid progress, but without doubt there is much money to be made in Alberta oil stocks, and if the oil developments succeed in their quest for production, then oil stocks must advance.

IN MEMORIAM
KEEN—In loving memory of our darling boy "Charlie," Charles Garrett Keen, who passed away in Shanghai, April 8, 1929. Always loved and never forgotten.
The shock was great, the blow severe, the little thought that death was near. One who has left us is able to tell. What it is to part without saying farewell.
Our hearts just ache with sadness, Our eyes shed many a tear. God alone knows how we miss him As it dawns another year.
In the pride of early manhood, When life was at its best, God took him from those who loved him To a home of peace and rest.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)
Winnipeg, April 8.—Wheat: The wheat market again opened strong with prices scoring gains of from 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 cents above close last night. The support was again largely local and coming through commission houses based on the continued dry weather in the southwest, but the pool sold a little wheat on opening bulge which eased the market off from the high points, and around mid-session there was fairly heavy selling by one large local house, part of which was credited to New York interests and before these offerings were absorbed the market had broken 3 1/2 to 3 3/4 cents from the opening high marks, there were slight reactions, but they were not held and the market again sank to new lows.

The action of the market was a surprise in the face of there being no rain in the wheat belt, either yesterday or to-day, and no moisture was in sight, according to the forecast.

Export business was again small, seaboard estimating sales around 400,000 bushels mostly Manitoba, but this business was not reflected on the market.

The cash market was again quiet with no special demand for wheat. Spreads on certain grades were a fraction higher but buyers were not pressing and offerings were light.

World disappearance of wheat has been heavy and it is logical to suppose that European stocks are getting down to probably less than normal proportions, to say nothing of the small amount now afloat.

Poor quality of Argentine wheat is beginning to show and export business from that country is slow and Argentine millers are paying high premiums for good wheat.

Look for the market to continue sensitive, generally unfavorable crop news, favor buying on any fair setbacks.

Coarse grains—These markets continue very quiet and featureless and are more or less influenced by the trend of wheat.

There is very little demand for cash grains, and only an odd car appears to be changing hands.

Flax—Trade continues very light and the market without feature.

CUTTEN SELLING WHEAT; SOUTHWEST IS STILL DRY

Arthur Cutten was reported a heavy seller of wheat to-day through Keen in the Winnipeg and Chicago pits to-day.

Chairman Alexander Legge to-day announced that the Farm Board had disposed of a little of its May wheat futures and was switching mainly to other positions.

Canadian weather report to-day said: Edmonton, clear, 44; Saskatoon, 38, clear; Moose Jaw, 40, clear; Regina, 35, clear; Lethbridge, 46, clear; Brandon, 38, clear; Calgary, 43, clear.

Early Chicago reports to-day showed no rain in the southwest.

Topeka, Kansas, April 8.—The Kansas weekly crop report to-day says: "The past week has been dry and did not allow continuance of growth. Except for light showers in one or two areas, no precipitation occurred in the state. Surface soil is too dry for good growth, but can be ploughed and worked down satisfactorily in most areas. Some heading of water is being done. Late planted and rank growth wheat in the south central and southwest part of the state is not progressing. Some discoloration and insect damage, especially from cutworms, is occurring. General condition has declined for several consecutive weeks. Oats seeding is completed, but they are not germinating or showing up well."

Liverpool, April 8.—Foreign crop reports are generally good, except in India, where weather may harm the quality of new wheat. New crop is placed at 320,000,000 bushels, which compares with recent estimates of 320,000,000 bushels.

Winnipeg, April 8.—Ernie Parker to-day said there was no special demand for cash wheat, and while some grain was saleable at one-eighth to one-quarter over closing spreads, buyers were not pressing and offerings were very light. Local exporters did little or no business overnight, but since early morning New York reports sales of 300,000 to 400,000 bushels, mostly Manitoba.

Goodland, Kansas, April 8.—Donovan reports from here to-day as follows: "Denver winter to Limon, Colorado, wheat is rather backward in growth, considerable water killed, but the remainder is not suffering for moisture. From Limon to here the crop is more advanced, but with more winter killing than expected. Sub-soil moisture is still plentiful, but rain is wanted for the dry surface, especially in the late seeded fields, which are thin and sickly from winter killing."

Winnipeg, April 8.—"Leading long interests took advantage of the uptick to sell this morning and the market was not broad enough to absorb it, the trouble being that the shorts had been pretty well eliminated on the recent uptick," Percy White said to-day. "The market for nearby futures will be nervous and erratic, following weather conditions, and likely to meet selling on every upturn from long interests."

Chicago, April 8.—Wheat: The market was again quiet with no special demand for cash wheat, and while some grain was saleable at one-eighth to one-quarter over closing spreads, buyers were not pressing and offerings were very light. Local exporters did little or no business overnight, but since early morning New York reports sales of 300,000 to 400,000 bushels, mostly Manitoba.

Goodland, Kansas, April 8.—Donovan reports from here to-day as follows: "Denver winter to Limon, Colorado, wheat is rather backward in growth, considerable water killed, but the remainder is not suffering for moisture. From Limon to here the crop is more advanced, but with more winter killing than expected. Sub-soil moisture is still plentiful, but rain is wanted for the dry surface, especially in the late seeded fields, which are thin and sickly from winter killing."

Winnipeg, April 8.—Ernie Parker to-day said there was no special demand for cash wheat, and while some grain was saleable at one-eighth to one-quarter over closing spreads, buyers were not pressing and offerings were very light. Local exporters did little or no business overnight, but since early morning New York reports sales of 300,000 to 400,000 bushels, mostly Manitoba.

VANCOUVER STOCK EXCHANGE

Vancouver, April 8.—The trend on the Vancouver Stock Exchange this morning was rather downward, the Home Oil being the only stock to affect the market leader either way, sales of 8.80 and 8.85 being registered. A. P. Consolidated was weak at 1.70, Baitco dropped to 37, C. & E. to 1.70 and Calmont to 1.20. Fabian held at 95, and Freehold at 75, with Hargal at 1.15 and Mayland offered at 1.30. Model, at 94, Sterling, at 21, Merland, around 17 1/2, locked 30, in line with the general trend of the morning.

Oil news to-day was confined to general progress reports, without any outstanding features.

Much of the same slowness was noted in the mining division. There was little action and no important changes in prices. Woodbine was perhaps the most active trader on the board, at the same level of 3 1/2 cents, 1201 Premier, neighboring property, was at 1.01. Pend Oreille opened strong at 2.85 and sold off ten points, while an odd lot of George Copper sold at 2.50 and Planet brought 30. Big Missouri sold at 30, in line with the general trend of the morning.

The balance of the market stock list was traded lightly at unaltered prices.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

How Great Is a Child's Debt to Its Parents?—The Man Who Fell in Love With His Wife After Marriage. Shall This Girl Marry the Boy Who Tells Risque Stories?

DEAR MISS DIX.—Will you please tell us what you think children owe their parents, and what is children's duty toward the home? MOLLY.

Answer.—What children owe their parents depends altogether upon what the parents do for the children, upon how well the parents fulfill their obligations toward their children.

I have never been able to see why a child owes any debt of gratitude to its parents for merely bringing it into the world. Life, even for the most fortunate, isn't so hilarious as all that. For most of us it is mostly a long and weary stretch of hard work, of striving and struggle, of anxieties and cares and disappointments, of sickness and suffering, and just the privilege of undergoing these tribulations doesn't call for our giving a rising vote of thanks to those who thrust this fate upon us.

But having arrived, without baggage and weak and helpless in this vale of tears, it is up to our parents to decide how much gratitude we shall owe them. They can put us under heavy obligations to them, or cancel our debt—if there is a debt—by the way they use us.

Of course, this is not the point of view of most parents. The way that the great majority of mothers and fathers look at it is that no matter how they neglect them or how they misuse them, the child's obligation to them never ceases. In fact, they regard their children as merely slaves that they have propagated.

It is for the parents who exploit their children, and set baby hands to work for them, that we have had to pass child-labor laws, defending helpless little children against their greedy parents. If you have ever been in any mill town, you have seen the saddest and most horrible sight on earth—big, lazy, husky women and men, idling around, while their stunted little children, with tired, workworn faces and bent little shoulders, labor to support them.

And every one of us knows cases in which a gay, frivolous woman has run off with some man leaving a helpless babe in its cradle to live or die at chance might have it, or some man who deserted his children in their helpless infancy. Then, after thirty or forty years, old and broken in health and poor, those renegade parents come back and demand that their children shall take care of them the balance of their lives.

More, they actually feel themselves ill-used because their children do not love and honor and respect them.

Certainly children have no obligations toward parents who have failed utterly in their duty to them, but there is another side to the picture and fortunately it is the more common one and the one with which we are most familiar.

There are fathers and mothers whose lives are one long sacrifice to their children. They literally work themselves to death to save their children from the hardships they have known. They go shabby that their children may be well dressed. They pinch and economize so that their children may have the education and advantages that they never had, knowing when they do it that they are putting their children out of their own class and raising them to a level they cannot reach.

All of us have known parents who gave their children college educations and advantages in life that they paid for with money that was dug out of the earth, with blood and sweat, or made scrubbing floors. All of us have known parents whose sense of duty to their children was so great that it made them follow wayward girls and boys down into the gutters and pick the poor derelicts out of the slime and take them back to their hearts, and try over and over again to make men and women out of them.

The debt that children owe to such parents as these is beyond all counting. It is a debt that can only be paid in love and gratitude and appreciation, and in cherishing and caring, with all tenderness for the parents when they come to helplessness as their parents cared for them when they were helpless.

And certainly the children of good parents should begin paying instalments on this debt as soon as they begin to earn money. They should try to lift the load that has been so heavy for their parents to bear so long. They should try to repay the parents for the sacrifices they have made for them. They shouldn't let father and mother do all of the work. They should set their strong young hands to the task and they should see that father and mother get some dividends on the fun they have missed.

As for the children's attitude toward the home, that should be one of co-operation. I think one of the first lessons that children should be taught is their responsibility toward the upkeep of the home and toward making the home a pleasant and agreeable place in which to live.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX.—A short time ago my husband told me that he did not love me before we were married, but that now he has learned to love me dearly. He also said that he was always jealous of every girl he ever went with, but that he has never been jealous of me. Is it possible to learn to love anyone after marriage? Is it true love a man feels when he is not jealous? HAPPY.

Answer.—Certainly it is perfectly possible for people to fall in love after they are married. In many cases marriage deepens love and a man and woman are far more devoted to each other on their silver wedding anniversary than they were on their marriage day. But this depends upon the character of the man and woman, and how unselfishly and intelligently they try to make a success of marriage.

If your husband has fallen in love with you since marriage, it shows that you have won well, that you are more charming, more interesting, more adaptable and a better sport than he had thought you were. You have a right, not only to congratulate yourself, but to feel very sure that you will not lose the affection that you have won.

Jealousy is no sign of love. In fact, it is just the opposite, for it is proof that one is not trusted. No woman is jealous of her husband unless she believes that he is likely to betray her. No man is jealous of his wife unless he thinks that she will be untrue to him if she gets the opportunity.

The husband and wife who have perfect faith in each other are not suspicious of each other. They are not afraid to have each other show other men and women some attention, or to enjoy other men's and women's society. They are not always thinking evil of each other.

So if your husband isn't jealous of you it is because he thinks of you, as was said of another wife as her final tribute of perfection, "The heart of her husband doth safely trust in her."

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX.—I am in love with a boy of good family, a wonderful boy, but he has one fault that makes me frantic and I don't know what to do about it. He insists on telling me risque stories and jokes, which I despise, and talking of things that are too personal and embarrassing for anybody to discuss except married people. He says I am narrow minded and cranky, and that all boys and girls talk that way now, but I know this isn't true, for I have gone with dozens of boys and he is the only one of the whole lot who has ever said that kind of things to me. I love this boy, but I am seriously thinking of breaking with him, for I feel that if he really loved me he would respect my wishes in this matter. What do you think about it? SUSIE.

Answer.—"As a man thinketh, so is he." This boy's mind is evidently filled with filth and I think there would always be something very repellent and shocking about him to a girl of refined and delicate feelings. I fully agree with your opinion about vulgar stories. When I have to listen to one I always feel as if I had been offered something to eat out of a garbage can.

Royal Oak

The Royal Oak Women's Institute sponsored a well-attended "paper" dance in the Community Hall on Friday evening. Interesting costumes were worn, the following ladies captured the prizes: First, Mrs. Carles, "American Beauty Rose"; second, Miss Kathleen Griffin, "Fuchsia"; best advertising, Mrs. Barker. The Melodian orchestra supplied music. The Royal Oak Women's Institute will hold a wool bee in the Community Hall on Thursday from 12 to 2 o'clock, preceding the regular meeting, when arrangements for the spring bazaar will be made. Mrs. Arthur Scruton left on Saturday for England, where she will be joined by Mr. Scruton in the near future. Miss Martha Kerr of the University of British Columbia, Vancouver, has been spending a few days at the Saanich Health Centre.

Coal and Other Fuel Had Been Dangerously Scarce When Waters Opened

Point Barrow, Alaska, April 8.—A threatened fuel famine had been averted here as a result of the breaking up of ice which had closed the harbor for weeks.

The anxiously-awaited change in the wind which opened water routes through the giant ridges of ice brought out scores of hunters in their kayaks. The majority were still out to hunt and fish last night but the odor of burning blubber was strong in the native village where coal and other fuel had been dangerously scarce.

Five Hundred Lose Saskatchewan Jobs

Regina, April 8.—Five hundred and six employees were dismissed from the public service of Saskatchewan by the new provincial government between September 8, 1929, the date upon which it took office, and March 14 of this year.

This information was contained in a return made to the legislature yesterday.

Years of employment in the public service range from one employee with five days up to another with twenty-one years' service.

Election Signs In Vancouver

Vancouver, April 8.—Instructions to hasten the work of subdividing Vancouver into precincts of 250 voters each, have been received by Robert M. Edgar, Dominion Returning Officer for Vancouver Centre, from the office of the chief electoral officer, Ottawa.

Letters of instruction to hasten the work of preparing for an election were also received by E. B. McMaster, returning officer for Vancouver-Burrard, and W. B. Robinson, returning officer for Vancouver South.

MOTHERS TO CHALLENGE BOARD'S ACT

Saanich Parents Protest Exclusion of Classes From Festival

Champion Choirs Must Forfeit Trophies Without Effort

Hearty disapprobation of the Saanich School Board's refusal to enter choirs from the Saanich schools in the Victoria Musical Festival was voiced with enthusiastic unanimity by many speakers last night at the monthly meeting of the Cedar Hill Parent-Teachers Association. The organization is the strongest and most aggressive organization of the type in Saanich, and Cedar Hill School was filled with men and women eager to voice in emphatic terms, their disapproval of the school board's action in depriving the children of the stimulating influence of strong competition in vocal studies.

Speakers frankly expressed themselves as angered that valued trophies were to be surrendered without an effort for their retention.

"We are all wondering just why the School Board has taken this action, to deprive our school choirs from the festival," Mrs. H. A. Silver, president, remarked when introducing the matter for discussion.

Mrs. C. F. Dawson said the publication of the intention to hold a public discussion was somewhat premature, the executive having intended to ascertain the views of the members and possibly call a public meeting next week, in a more central location.

On motion of Mrs. A. Harper the association decided to ask the School Board to explain why the schools had been withdrawn from the festival, a letter of protest will be presented by a delegation which will wait on the board Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Harper remarked that McKenzie Avenue and Tolmie schools held cups won last year, which must be surrendered without an effort, and Mrs. Hudson stated that Gordon Head School had twice won a shield which had been withdrawn from the festival, a letter of protest will be presented by a delegation which will wait on the board Wednesday evening.

Mrs. J. B. Hudson said the time was past to enter children in the Victoria festival this year, but a strong protest should be entered. She considered that if the children were now required to study the festival numbers, in addition to the works already being prepared for the Saanich competition, the board would be given color for possible excuses of neglect of regular studies. Mr. Lynn said trustee Briggs had recently forecast that the Saanich students would next year be required to practice ten pieces instead of the two numbers required.

A delegate from the Cloverdale Parent-Teachers Association expressed support for strong protest, remarking on the unfairness of depriving Saanich schools of opportunity to defend honors fairly won at previous festivals.

"It is better to lose trophies in fair competition than to have them taken away without an effort to retain them," commented Mrs. Oiler.

Decision as to whether a public meeting shall be called was entrusted to the executive, and will depend upon the tenor of the explanations offered by the School Board.

Two of the economic areas of the Dominion showed gains in business activity during the second month of the year.

Conditions were considerably more active in the Maritime Provinces and a slight gain was registered in the Prairie Provinces, subsequent in the latter case to a continuous recession lasting for nine months.

The Financial Post's business index by economic areas conducted from seven factors, consisting of productive and financial operations, indicates that conditions were not greatly altered in February though the indexes for the remaining areas showed minor recessions.

The decline in the indexes of Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia was limited in each case to less than one per cent.

Gordon McLeod Players Present "The Whole Town's Talking"

Governor-General and Party to Attend Performance This Evening

The Gordon McLeod players at the Royal Victoria Theatre, who intend to take a holiday next week, have apparently set out to provide enough laughter in this week's production to last their patrons over the intervening stretch of time before they again appear.

"The Whole Town's Talking," a riotous farce in three acts, was presented for the first time yesterday evening and received a roaring welcome from the small but enthusiastic audience. From start to finish it is a succession of ridiculous situations which keep the spectator in a constant state of suspense and interest. Fast-moving and surprising, the interest never lags for a minute.

This evening the Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Willingdon will attend the theatre with the Government House party. Part of the proceeds will be donated to the fund of the Queen Alexandra Solarium. A full house is expected.

With James McGrath and Gordon McLeod in the major male roles, the play has for its main theme the "ideas" of Henry Simmons, played by McGrath, to make his business partner, Chester Binney, played by McLeod, his son-in-law.

In the role of Simmons, a wealthy manufacturer, Mr. McGrath played the part of the "idea" man, who is continually bringing up some new plan to get Binney out of the company. He has put him by faking an "affair" between Binney and a prominent actress, Letty Lythe.

The part of Letty Lythe is taken by Miss Letty Lythe, the most beautiful dramatic appearance on the stage, enhanced by beautiful gowns worn with charming grace.

"TALK OF TOWN"

When it becomes known through the "gossip" press that Chester Binney, the noted movie star, has become the talk of the town and Ethel Simmons, played by Margaret St. Barbe West, immediately responds to his advances, throwing over Roger Shields, a young millionaire, played by Roland Gillett's natural comedy ability.

Everything goes well until the real Letty Lythe appears on the scene with her fiancé a role extremely well taken by Claude Bailey, who appears in golf regalia.

Of course everyone is happy after Simmons has tried to tangle things up with many explanations and several confessions have been made.

Maude Blay has the role of Mrs. Simmons, the nagging wife of the manufacturer, and plays with excellent finish. George Durham as a taxi-driver, Harcourt Aubrey as the butler, and Betty Jennings as Sadie Bloom, "friend" of Simmons, have the minor roles which are all well taken.

Mr. McLeod, who again appears in a "young man" part, makes a lovable figure out of awkward, peevish and unfashionable bachelor, Chester Binney, who finally triumphs in winning the hand of Ethel Simmons. His first attempts at love-making are screamingly funny.

LAVISH SCENES
FEATURE OF FILM
"NO NO, NANETTE"

"No, No, Nanette," the scintillating First National musical comedy picture filmed partly in color, opened last night for a run at the Capitol Theatre. This exceptionally lavish production was received with enthusiasm by an audience which seemed to enjoy every minute of it.

The effectiveness of Technicolor for pictures like "No, No, Nanette" was proved up to the hilt. Scenes take on the naturalness of life, and one forgets one is looking at a pictorial reproduction. The big color numbers are the Mars, New York, Holland, and Japan ensembles. They are featured by gorgeous settings on which take place the novel dances and many beautiful features, such as the really startling trip to Mars in a rocket plane.

FILM STAR'S MAIL

"POSTIE" DISCOVERS

Saint Augustin du Var is a suburb of Nice where Constance Talmadge made the picture "Venus" which is at the Columbia Theatre. Until three years ago it was exceptionally quiet and for that reason Francois Beaujoulis, a veteran postman, was given the district.

By the time Miss Talmadge's picture was half finished old Francois was convinced his Christmas mail was a mere bagatelle.

But when Constance gave him a fine bicycle with an American coaster-brake, electric lamp and basket holder in front, Francois grumblingly volunteered to deliver the star's mail.

DENNIS KING HAD RAPID RISE TO THEATRICAL FAME

Dennis King, who for the last two or three years has been rated by critics as the greatest singing star of the Broadway musical comedy stage, will be seen and heard for the first time by movie audiences at the Dominion Theatre all this week where "The Vagabond King" is showing.

"The Vagabond King" was the vehicle for Dennis King's greatest singing achievement. It had a sensationallly long run of more than a full season's duration in New York, and made King's rise to fame was meteoric. As a lad he was fascinated by the stage. His first-bit parts were with John Drinkwater's repertory theatres in Birmingham, England. He went to the United States in the English company of "Monsieur Beaucaire" after he was wounded in service in the British Expeditionary Forces.

JANET GAYNOR IS GREAT SUCCESS IN TALKING PICTURES

"Passed with flying colors" was the encouraging verdict received by the dainty and piquant actress, Janet Gaynor, on the momentous occasion of her talkie test in the Fox Movietone talking picture, "Lucky Star," which is at the Playhouse Theatre. Miss Gaynor, who is co-starred with Charles Farrell under Frank Borzage's able direction in the picture, possesses a clear, appealing voice which is admirably suited to her speaking characterization in "Lucky Star," that of a little "Down East" farm urchin spiritually uplifted by her idealistic, earnest lover, Hedwig Reicher, and Guinn "Big Boy" Williams also have speaking parts in the picture.

TOBY LEITCH IN NEGRO ROLE ON VARIETY STAGE

A rollicking farce comedy, "Getting George's Goat" scored a great hit at the Variety Theatre last night when it was produced by the popular Toby Leitch Players.

Raymond Toby Leitch scored a brilliant personal success in the role of Samson Washington Jackson, a negro footman. Toby is a southerner by birth and has made a study of the speech and mannerisms of the Kentucky and Tennessee negro. This enables him to interpret this droll character to perfection.

The story of the play deals with the entanglements George Daniels gets himself into when he "splits out" during his wife's absence from town. George tries to explain things to his mother-in-law and almost succeeds when one of his lady friends unexpectedly calls on him. George introduces her as his niece, from whom he was really expecting a visit. Things look brighter until the real niece arrives, and then Mrs. Daniels herself.

HAD CONTROL OF ALCOHOL BOARD

Lord Shaughnessy Was Dictator, Says Former Vice-President

Montreal, Que., April 8.—Circumstances surrounding the resignation of Col. F. H. Gaudet from the board of directors of Canadian Industrial Alcohol were placed in evidence yesterday when Col. Gaudet was called as a witness for the plaintiffs in the Davis-Shaughnessy action.

Col. Gaudet, who was vice-president and director of the company, declared that on August 1, 1929, the vice-president finally resigned after the company had agreed to pay him the balance of salary due him for 1929.

On July 4, Col. Gaudet said, he received from Lord Shaughnessy a letter in which the president of the alcohol company complained of the colonel's action in selling some of his stock in the company, and demanded his resignation. Col. Gaudet refused to resign.

In a subsequent letter Lord Shaughnessy stated that Col. Gaudet's salary as an officer of the company would cease on August 1, 1929. The vice-president finally resigned after the company had agreed to pay him the balance of salary due him for 1929.

Camillien Houde Goes Back With Overwhelming Majority

Montreal, Quebec, April 8.—Mayor Camillien Houde was returned to office in the civic elections to-day over his only opponent, Alderman J. A. Matheson, who lost his deposit. Not only was Mayor Houde re-elected with an overwhelming majority but at least eighteen aldermanic candidates who pledged themselves to support the mayor in his campaign to "oust the clique at the city hall" were successful.

This means that Mayor Houde will have a large majority of supporters in the city council which numbers twenty-five aldermen.

SIGHT AND SOUND ARE BROADCAST IN JERSEY THEATRE

Jersey City, N.J., April 8.—Sight and sound were broadcast simultaneously here last night from what has been described as America's first television theatre.

Transmission was accomplished by the use of short and broadcast waves, television being sent by short wave and the sound part of the programme over both broadcast and short waves.

Only fair success attended the reception of the television part of the two-hour programme. Pictures were picked up at numerous parts of Jersey City. Three of the "looking posts" reported that while it was easy to tune in the television signals, difficulty was experienced in recognizing the persons being televised.

Last night's programme was the first of a week's broadcast in which prominent persons are participating. The experiments are being made under the auspices of the Jersey City Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with the Jenkins Television Corporation, whose transmitting and receiving apparatus is being used.
